Iraq Studies Health Methods Used in U.S.

By JACK CRAWFORD
Freeman Staff Reporter

Dr. Abdul Salam Awini of fabulous Baghdad is in Kingston for a week on a tour of American hospitals and public health facilities.

Dr. Awini, director of the Naman General Hospital in the city of Scheherazade and Ali Baba in modern Iraq, was recently awarded his Master's degree in Public Health after a year of study at Yale. For the next two and a half months he will tour the northeast before flying back to his wife and three children.

A gentleman of excellent English and quick humor, the doctor ribs you gently for certain misconceptions, particularly in the matter of geography. He comes from the land of Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, he tells you, the land of Scheherazade, the sultana, who so beguiled the irascible sultan with her wondrous tales that he decided to spare her life.

And how did he come to the United States? Why, obviously—by magic carpet!

Iraq—the former Mesopotamia, land of the twin rivers, Tigris and Euphrates, fabled as the site of the Garden of Eden—has six million people, the charming doctor tells you.

Of this six million, about a million live in Baghdad. They are served by a startling small group of medical practitioners—800 in all.

But here's the rub, the genial Dr. Awini explains: 500 of the 800 doctors reside in the city of Baghdad, the capital of Iraq, a quite modern metropolis with advantages lacking to the vast rural sections of the nation. The

Staples, Davis Move to Higher Trust Co. Posts

Alva S. Staples, who has served as president of the Kingston Trust Company since 1951 when he succeeded the late William H. Van Etten, was elected chairman of the board at a meeting of the directors of the Trust Company yesterday.

Arthur A. Davis, who became associated with the banking house in 1907, and has been vice president and treasurer since February 1951, when he succeeded Mr. Staples as vice president, was elected president to succeed Mr. Staples.

The elevation of Mr. Staples to chairman of the board and Mr. Davis as president will become effective on July 1.

When Arthur A. Davis first became associated with the Bank in 1907, it was then known as the Kingston National Bank, the total assets were $456,000 and the capital funds amounted to $210,000. Today the assets are $21,000,000 and the capital funds total $1,875,000. In addition the Kingston Trust Company has a Trust Department of over $5,000,000.

Mr. Davis joined the Kingston National Bank in 1907 and later became cashier. On May 10, 1919 when the board of directors decided to change the banking house to a Trust Company in (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Comedy Team Splits

Hollywood, June 19 (AP)—Dean Martin, who wants to live like Bing Crosby, and Jerry Lewis, who wants to be a Charlie Chaplin, next month will formally end a four million dollar a year partnership.

Ironically, the final split will come after completion of an eastern night club tour originally planned to commemorate their 10th anniversary and their new picture "Pardners."

Final barrier to the split was removed last night when producer Hal Wallis, who first brought them into the movies, agreed to let each make a separate movie. As a team, they have been among the biggest boxoffice attractions in movie history.

Quin Is Through As City Manager

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—The Common Council voted unanimously last night to dismiss City Manager Robert E. Quin from the $12,000-a-year job he has held since the first of the year.

The council resolution said Quin "has not satisfactorily performed his duties as director of the executive branch of the government of the City of Poughkeepsie."

Quin was suspended immediately and is to be removed from office in 30 days.

The city manager had been involved in several disputes with Mayor J. Thomas Dietz over street cleaning operations.

The council named Harold R. Dean as acting manager. He is Poughkeepsie's city engineer and head of the Department of Public Works.

Probe Is Called For by Desmond Of Wehle Order

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—A Republican lawmaker called today for a probe of an order he said was issued by former Conservation Commissioner Louis A. Wehle to curb outside scientific activities by Conservation Department personnel.

Sen. Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh said that Wehle, just before he resigned last week, had issued an order that would:

1. Bar department personnel from preparing scientific papers during their working hours, that is, on state time.
2. Cut down attendance of department officials at outside scientific meetings.

The senator said he was asking the Republican-controlled joint legislative committee on government operations, known as the "watchdog" committee, to make "a complete study" of the order and any similar orders that might have been issued in other departments.

Wehle is a Democrat and was elected this month as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, where he has said he will support the nomination of Gov. Harriman for president.

Desmond said: "This kind of administrative regulation will not only make it difficult to recruit bright people into government but will retard scientific progress."

"As an engineer by training, I was appalled to learn of Mr. Wehle's anti-science order. It smacks of the kind of 'practicality' that leads our nation pining to keep up with Russian's advances in scientific matters."

DESMOND SAID that such orders "set a dangerous precedent and strike a blow at all science." He said the public was entitled to know to what extent, if any, other agencies might be following a "similarly harmful policy."

Asserting that the state should encourage the free flow of scientific data, Desmond said:

"Naturally a degree of discretion must be used in such matters. But state scientists capable of preparing pertinent scientific papers acceptable to scientific journals and professional organizations ought to be commended, not handicapped."

DESMOND SAID the order he attributed to Wehle overshadowed "the immediate issue which apparently led" to Wehle's resignation.

Wehle, a Rochester brewer, resigned in the face of two investigations into his charges that "gross negligence or sabotage" by department personnel had brought about the death of 15,000 pheasants at a state game farm on Grenadier Island in Lake Ontario.

Wehle said a "secret society" was operating against him in the department.

Wehle gave poor health as the reason for his resignation. He suffers from diabetes. He now is in Arizona.

Desmond's remarks were contained in a statement made available to reporters at the state capitol.

Reelected

THOMAS J. FINNERTY

Thomas J. Finnerty was reelected president of the Municipal Civil Service Commission at its recent reorganization meeting.

The term will be his fourth as president and is due to expire May 31, 1958. His term as a member of the commission is due to expire May 31, 1960.

Martin F. Kelly was reelected secretary. The other commissioners are Robert B. Murray, whose term will expire May 31, 1958 and Charles J. Cole, whose term will expire May 31, 1962.

Heart Attack Fatal Today To IBM Board Chairman

Fast-Growing Population Leads Three States to Mutual Plans

Traffic, Police, Water and Other Problems Aired

New York, June 19 (AP)—A steering committee of six New York, New Jersey and Connecticut officials will tackle mutual planning and police problems of the 15 million people in the greater New York metropolitan area.

The committee was named yesterday at a conference of 53 officials from the tri-state area called by Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York city.

Mayor Wagner, predicting that the area would jump to a 19 million population by 1976, told the group "we are a unified geographic area—many of our problems transcend political boundaries."

MAYORS AND other local officials in the suburban towns and counties surrounding New York city lost no time in presenting their problems at the two-and-a-half hour session.

Connecticut and New Jersey officials complained about New York's 21-year-old legal drinking age compared with 18 in their states. Nassau county (N. Y.) officials called on the city to abandon its water system in Nassau and turn it over to the county. Officials of Rockland county, N. Y., proposed increased bus and rail service to ease the commuter's life. Hoboken, N. J. officials criticized the growing power of interstate authorities created to administer public works.

AND, ALMOST without exception, the mayors aired their gripes on traffic problems in the congested 7,000-square mile area.

Other problems presented for a mutual solution were juvenile delinquency, flood control, housing for the aged, uniform traffic codes, co-ordinated road building, sewage disposal, air pollution, recreation and parking.

In the course of the discussions, Mayor Wagner cited a new problem: "the reverse trend in commuting," with New Yorkers heading out to seek their fortunes in Connecticut, New Jersey and on Long Island while maintaining their homes in the city.

THE STEERING committee will meet "as soon as is feasible" on the various problems and report back to another full conference of county and municipal officials in the fall.

Sees 2 Million Over 65 by 1970

New York, June 19 (AP)—State Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe predicts that by 1970 New York State will have more than two million residents over 65 years of age.

Addressing a meeting of Group Health Insurance, Inc., yesterday, the commissioner said the state will be snowed under in providing care for its aged population unless health insurance is broadened.

He said the state now has 1 1/2 million persons over 65. He urged a study of the whole problem.

Strike Call For Steel Set June 30

New York, June 19 (AP)—Leaders of the United Steelworkers of America have been empowered to call a nationwide steel strike if the union doesn't have a new contract by June 30.

The union's 170-member wage policy committee authorized the strike call yesterday and then headed for home.

The committee warned that time is "growing short" for averting a walkout of 650,000 steelworkers in plants that turn out nine-tenths of the nation's steel.

But the industry stood firm against a union demand for a one-year contract with wage increases and fringe benefits.

The wage committee's statement came a day after the union broke off joint talks with the "Big Three"—U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic—in favor of negotiating separately with each of them and eight other major steel firms.

Negotiations start today with two of the eight companies—Inland and Youngstown. The two submitted contract proposals yesterday. The offers were understood to be similar to those presented by the "big three."

Meanwhile, David J. McDonald, silver-haired president of the union, disputed the value the "big three" placed on their offer. The companies said the package proposal would amount to a 65-cent-an-hour increase in the fifth year rising from 17 1/2 cents the first year.

"That's pure and unadulterated bunk," McDonald told a news conference. He said the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Tito, Khrushchev Claim New Ties Pose No Threat to Western World

Moscow, June 19 (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union's Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev said today the ties they have forged anew are no threat to the Western world.

The two Communist leaders told 80,000 cheering Russians at a mass rally in Moscow's dynamo stadium their ties can never again be torn asunder.

"We cannot help those people who don't like our relations with the Soviet Union," Tito said. The packed stadium roared approval.

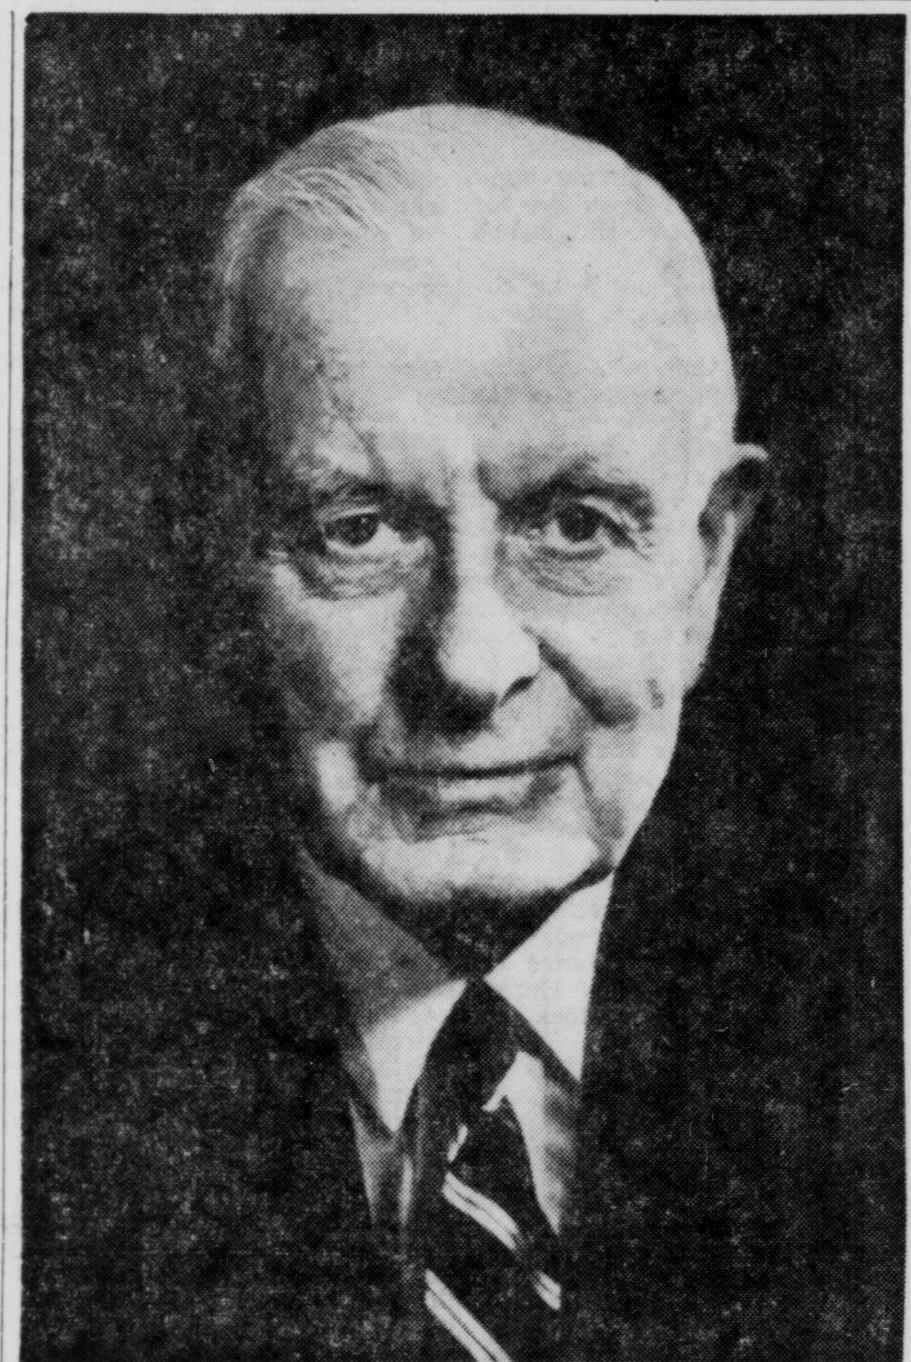

In a half-hour speech preceding Tito, Khrushchev said Western critics were "deeply mistaken" if they thought the newly established friendship between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union would damage their relations with other countries.

"We don't want this," Khrushchev said. "We want both Yugoslavia's and our relations with other countries to flourish and develop."

The signing of a joint communiqué detailing results of Tito's conferences with Soviet leaders was postponed in the last minutes without explanation. A spokesman said the communiqué would not be signed tonight.

Tito's stadium speech ranged over Soviet-Yugoslav party and government relations and the problems of Germany, European security and the Middle East.

The entire diplomatic corps was present, including NATO nation ambassadors who listened as Khrushchev and Tito extolled the virtues of Communism.

Carvel Favored 2-1, Corral to Continue

A 2-1 decision by the zoning board favors the application of the Carvel Corp., to operate an ice cream store on the Monroe T. Southard property Foxhall and Albany avenue, Attorney Joseph Avis, the board's president announced today.

A similar deciding vote held that the board was not empowered to interfere with operation of the Basch stockyard in the Maple street area, and the board gave decisions on three other applications.

The decisions, the board noted, are subject to further court appeals, if any of the applicants decide upon such action.

Commissioners Avis and Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman voted in favor of the Carvel application, and Commissioner Fred J. Baker dissented.

The vote favoring the applicant, Avis said, was based on the fact that the property is one classified for non-conforming use, that an ice cream business would be no more hazardous than the operation of a gasoline service station, and that under Section 3 of the zoning laws, the applicant would have permission to make property changes. It also noted that other stores were selling ice cream in the area.

Baker's dissenting opinion was Supreme Court Justice Herbert D. Hamm in Troy. It resulted in no specific decision, but the judge advised, in effect that a more complete presentation of facts should be made.

A petition signed by residents of the area was considered the main influence in the Common Council's vote against the application, but the corporation contended that the character of the immediate area was generally business and industrial.

Commissioners Avis and Baker voted to the effect that the board was not empowered to act to prevent further use of the Basch property as a stockyard, but Commissioner Saccoman held that the laws governing the board gave it sufficient police power to demand a change or a stopping of operation.

The opinion of the two commissioners was to the effect that the property involved was one classified as of non-conforming use based on the contention that the ice cream business would be more hazardous in that it would attract new traffic and was open to a virtual sidewalk operation.

The Carvel application stirred controversy last year after the Common Council reversed a zoning board decision and voted against it, and the applicant ap-

Hospital Patient for Three Days Family With Him In Last Hours

New York, June 19 (AP)—Thomas J. Watson, 82, chairman of the board of the International Business Machines Corp., died of a heart attack at 1 p. m. today at Roosevelt Hospital.

Watson had been active until recently in the affairs of the business he built up from a comparatively small concern to a worldwide enterprise. He took part in its annual meeting April 24.

RECENTLY he had complained of what appeared to be a digestive upset, and went to the hospital last Sunday noon from his summer home at New Canaan, Conn.

Members of his immediate family were with him when he died.

They included his widow, the former Jeanette K. Kittredge, daughter of an Ohio industrialist, and their four children, Thomas J. Watson Jr., president of IBM; Arthur K. Watson, president of IBM World Trade Corp.; Mrs. John N. Irwin 2nd, of New York, and Mrs. Walker G. Buckner, of Bronxville, N. Y.

In addition, he is survived by 15 grand children.

Last May Watson stepped down as chief executive officer of IBM and turned that job over to his son, Thomas J. Watson Jr. However, he continued on as chairman of the board, with the son as president.

Watson, often termed "The World's Greatest Salesman," was born in Campbell, N. Y., Feb. 17, 1874. After two years at Addison Academy and a year at the Elmira, N. Y., School of Commerce, he began his business career as a bookkeeper for a Painted Post, N. Y., market. For two years he worked for a hardware dealer, and then joined the National Cash Register Co. as a salesman in Buffalo. He remained with that company 18 years, and became its general sales manager. In 1914 he was selected to head the computing-Tabulation-Recording Co., which became International Business Machines Corp.

BORN IN CAMPBELL, N. Y., February 17, 1874, the son of Thomas and Jane White Watson, he was educated in the Addison Academy and the Elmira, N. Y., School of Commerce. On a Friday the 13th, he began his career as a bookkeeper at $6 a week in Clarence Risley's Market, Painted Post, N. Y., but soon learned that his greatest interest was in selling. Subsequently he went to work in the same village, and for two years he sold sewing machines and musical instruments for Willard Bronson. Then he joined the National Cash Register Company, as a salesman in Buffalo. Four years later he was made manager in Rochester where he worked another four years. He was then advanced to special representative, and, after four and a half years, was appointed general sales manager, at Dayton, O., serving there for nearly six years.

In May, 1914, he was selected to head the Computing-Tabulating-Recording Company, which later became International Business Machines Corporation. He immediately established the basic principles on which all company policies have been based: (Continued on Page 16, Col. 2)

Baptists Impressed

New York, June 19 (AP)—Five Russian Baptists, winding up a five week tour of the United States, have voiced enthusiastic appreciation for the nation they have seen.

They leave for home by plane today.

"An unforgettable experience," said one of the Baptists yesterday. "Such great abundance," said another. Others said they were impressed with the "kindness of Americans."

The four ministers and a young woman Baptist youth leader visited this country at the invitation of four major U. S. Baptist organizations.

14 School Districts Promised Hearing on Consolidation Plan

Say State To Hear Program Afraid Vote Will Favor City Link

A group of 14 school districts opposed to consolidation with Kingston have been promised a hearing by the state commissioner of education, it was reported today.

Arthur Wirth of Tilsen, a member of the recently formed Associated School Committees, consisting of districts opposed to consolidation in the proposed Greater Kingston School District, said Commissioner James E. Allen had indicated to him in a telephone conversation Monday that no action on consolidation would be taken until he had personally met with representatives of the organization.

THE COMMISSIONER is expected to advise the group today when it will be convenient to meet with its representatives. The 14 districts which belong to the Associated School Committees are Esopus 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 14, Hurley 3 and 4, Rosendale 2, 3, 4 and 6 and Ulster 1. These districts, located in the towns of Rosendale, Esopus, Ulster and Hurley, fear they may be forced into consolidation with Kingston whether they want it or not when the question comes to a vote.

representatives of these districts June 11 asking the State Education Department to split the area for the vote on consolidation.

The districts, located south of Ashokan Reservoir, feel they may be swept into consolidation by a heavier vote from the more populous northern areas.

THE RESOLUTION, now being circulated for signatures, asks that the southern districts vote separately from the more northerly districts on the question of consolidation. The southern group feels that districts in the towns of Woodstock and Kingston and parts of Ulster and Hurley north of Ashokan Reservoir should vote as a separate unit.

Following a special meeting of the Associated School Committees Monday night in Tilsen, G. A. Ryerson said the tremendous response in signatures to the resolution calling for the separation of votes indicated that "we are definitely on the right track and are fulfilling our responsibilities to the people in the area concerned by allowing them to express their desires and succeed thereby in getting the very best education for their children."

HE SAID the minimum number of signatures required for submission of the resolution had been greatly exceeded.

The resolution now being circulated for signatures reads as follows:

"Resolved, that we, the undersigned qualified voters of the school districts in the towns of Rosendale, Hurley, Esopus, Ulster, county of Ulster, demand that the dividing line be drawn south of the Ashokan Reservoir as designated in the map attached hereto, thereby dividing the northern section from the southern section for the purpose of vote count on Greater Kingston Consolidation Plan.

"IT IS FURTHER demanded that this division shall be excluded from the proposed consolidation by a 51 per cent negative vote in such section."

The State Education Department has proposed a tentative consolidation plan called the Greater Kingston School District which would embrace the towns of Rosendale, Hurley, Esopus, Ulster, Woodstock and Kingston.

IT IS THE consensus of school leaders in districts south of Ashokan Reservoir, however, that they should form a consolidation separate from the Greater Kingston District—a Union Free Consolidation.

The next meeting of the Associated School Committees will be held at 8 p. m. Monday, June 25, at the Tilsen School.

Dulles Pleads For Aid Monies

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles asked the Senate Appropriations Committee today to back President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid program lest America's allies "relax their efforts and weaken the entire structure of the free world alliances."

Dulles' testimony, opening four days of committee hearings, came after the foreign relations committee reported out a $4,302,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill. This was $703,000,000 more than the House allowed for military and economic assistance.

The appropriations committee is considering a separate bill carrying money for these and previous authorizations. As the closed hearings started, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) predicted that a majority of the Senate's Democrats will support a minimum of $2,400,000,000 in military assistance.

Predict Senate Will Vote Extra Air Force Funds

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Two Democratic senators expressed confidence today the Senate will vote an extra $1,160,000,000 for long range bombers and other air force spending.

THE SENATE Appropriations Committee voted 13-12 yesterday to add that amount to the funds requested by President Eisenhower for the purpose as it completed action on a defense money bill raised to almost 35 billion dollars.

Some Democrats have contended the Eisenhower administration may be letting U. S. air power fall below Russia's.

The Senate will start debating the bill Thursday, but Democratic Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) said he expects no voting before next Tuesday.

ASKED IF the committee decision could be sustained on the floor, Sen. Chavez (D-N.M.), chairman of the subcommittee which handled the bill, replied "of course it will."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Armed Services Committee and a strong supporter of a bigger air force, said "I am very hopeful this increase will be sustained in the Senate."

Hearings were held by the board after complaints were received to the effect that the operation caused disturbing noises, obnoxious odors, and was an attraction to vermin.

Attorney Sherwood E. Davis, represented the protesting group. The board decided to hold a public hearing on the application of the Kidd Radio Shop to use the former Jones Dairy property on Shufeldt street. Henry H. Paley, of 134 Clinton avenue, who had sought use of the property for the processing and packaging of chemical products, has withdrawn his application.

The board decided to grant Andrew J. Shrader permission to build in the Rose Terrace area if he complies with all required regulations. His previous application to build had met with disapproval in the planning commission and department of buildings. Attorney Hubert A. Richter appeared for him.

William Maisenhelder was granted permission to build a two-car garage and breezeway on a property on Florence street extension.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 19 (AP)—The stock market loafed along with irregular prices in quiet trading early this afternoon.

The trading pace was as slow as yesterday's. Volume for the day was estimated at 1,400,000 shares compared with 1,440,000 yesterday.

Leading issues fluctuated in fractions to around a point either way with few exceptions. Aircrafts and oils were about the only major divisions showing a fairly solid front of gains. Other groups were mixed.

Eisenhower Has Busy Morning

Washington, June 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower, continuing good progress in recuperating from his operation, put in the better part of an hour today working on White House business.

In a session with his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, the President signed four bills passed by Congress. One, aimed to increase public library service available in rural areas, provides for a program of federal grants.

EISENHOWER SAID in a statement that the legislation "shows promise to leading to a significant enrichment of lives of millions of Americans, which, I am confident, will be continued by the states when this limited federal program comes to an end."

Eisenhower also signed transmittal letters covering the dispatch to Congress of two annual reports—one by the National Advisory Council on international monetary and financial problems, the other a document dealing with activities of the office of the alien property custodian.

AMONG OTHER documents, the President approved a recommendation by the Civil Aeronautics Board and an atomic energy agreement between the United States and France. Neither of those was made public.

He also signed a letter to the Housing and Home Finance Administration designating Blytheville, Ark. as an area of acute housing shortage. That action qualifies defense workers in the area for occupation of low-rental housing.

In other official actions, Eisenhower reappointed Hugh M. Comer of Birmingham, Ala. as a member of the National Monument Commission and redesignated Clarence G. Morse as chairman of the Federal Maritime Board.

Banks Is Held For Grand Jury

Kenneth Joseph Banks, 20, of 49 Cedar street, who was arrested May 31 on three charges, one of them second degree assault, was held for the grand jury after appearance in City Court yesterday.

Banks was charged with grabbing Officer John Houghtaling after the latter had ordered him to stop at a gas station at Broadway and Franklin street. The officer fired a shot which hit a hub cap on the car, but Banks got away and was picked up later.

Booked also on charges of driving an unregistered vehicle and operating it without a license, he was given preliminary hearing and City Judge Raymond J. Mino reserved decision until yesterday when he ordered that he be held for the grand jury.

Staples, Davis

order to widen its scope of activities, it was necessary to change first to a "State" Bank. On that day the Kingston National Bank became the Kingston State Bank, in which Davis was secretary-treasurer, and the same day in the business transition the directors voted to become a Trust Company and Davis that same day became secretary-treasurer of the newly formed Kingston Trust Company. He perhaps holds the record, at least in Kingston, holding the offices of secretary-treasurer of three banks in the same day.

He continued to serve as secretary-treasurer of the Kingston Trust Company until February 1951 when Mr. Staples became president and Davis was elected vice president. Staples had served as vice president from 1941 to 1951.

At the present time the Kingston Trust Company is the largest commercial bank in Ulster county and in addition to the main bank at Fair and Main streets, operates the Central Branch at 518 Broadway and a branch bank at Phoenixia.

48 Degrees This Morning Is Low Record for June

June has been fickle before and this month still has opportunity for various kinds of records, but after last week we hardly expected it to get so low-down cool with itself.

It did it today as though May had breathed on it and produced an all-time low for the date, by records of the city engineer's office—a 48 at 5:30 a. m. Nearest to it through the years of local records were lows of 50 on June 19, 1939 and again on the date in 1950.

The temperature by 1 p. m. today was an even 70, and that is drastically cool compared to the mid-summer temperatures recorded throughout most of last week.

Court Hears Action

An action for injuries suffered by Mrs. John M. Linn when she was bitten by a dog on January 15, 1956, was on trial in County Court today before Judge Louis G. Bruhn and a jury. Mrs. Linn was at the home of Hilda Hopkins when she alleges the Hopkins dog bit her on the lip and eye. The accident happened when Mrs. Linn allegedly petted the dog. Dr. Anthony Tocco of Stone Ridge treated her and sent her to Kingston Hospital for further treatment for a severe laceration of the lip. Plaintiff is represented by Cook and Cook with Francis Tucker as trial counsel and defendant is represented by Charles Jenkins with Arthur B. Ewig as trial counsel. All jurors not engaged in the trial of the case were excused until 10 a. m. Wednesday.

Theft Traced to Boy

Detective Clarence Brophy said today that theft of a $55 watch from the home of Michael DeCicco, 498 Delaware avenue, was traced to a 12-year-old boy. DeCicco reported the theft last Saturday. The watch had since figured in some bartering, the detective said, and at one time was swapped for a bicycle.

Crago on Board

Robert T. Crago, general manager of the Kingston IBM plant was elected to the board of trustees of Kingston Hospital last night. He succeeds Gavin A. Cullen, who was transferred from Kingston where he was general plant manager to take over the operation of a new IBM plant in California.

Marlboro Man Named

Washington, June 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower has sent to the Senate these nominations for postmasters in New York state: Bernard J. Davis, Blackville; Christopher Raymond Cole Jr., Croton Falls; Ruth Clark, Fort Johnson; Herman E. Story, Freehold; James Gordon Thomson, Huntington; Gus J. Cutrone, Marlboro; William E. Way, Peconic; and Edward P. Humbert, Spring Valley.

Report 128 Reds Killed

Taipei, Formosa, June 19 (AP)—An official Chinese Nationalist news agency reported today that tribesmen in the Pohai area of South Yunnan revolted in March and in three days of fighting killed 128 Chinese Reds. The Interior Ministry's Tatro News Agency, which claims under-ground contacts on the mainland, said the tribesmen were armed only with spears, old hunting guns and other inadequate weapons and suffered heavy casualties.

New York, June 19 (AP)—The Democratic State Committee today chose 24 at-large delegates to the party's national convention—22 regarded as supporters for Gov. Averell Harriman for the presidential nomination and two favoring Adlai Stevenson.

Sprinkling Hours Announced Here

A Kingston Water Department notice issued this week asks full public cooperation of a sprinkling schedule aimed at maintaining proper water pressure and the general conservation of water during summer.

The system now in effect asks that on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week residents on even-numbered sides of city streets observe the sprinkling hours of between 8 and 10 a. m., and 8 and 10 p. m.

Then on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday those on odd-numbered sides of city streets observe the same sprinkling hours.

Divided Germany Will Soon Be One, Adenauer Declares

Bonn, Germany, June 18 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer predicts divided Germany will soon be one.

Back from high level talks in the United States, Adenauer declared yesterday the whole free world supports the German people's desire for reunification. Adenauer led his countrymen in observing the third anniversary of the anti-Communist uprising in East Germany. June 17 is now a national holiday in West Germany. "The Day of German Unity."

SPEAKING at ceremonies in Bonn, Adenauer said he was "firmly convinced" the day of reunification was near.

Similar views were expressed in Washington over the weekend.

President Eisenhower, in an anniversary message to the Germans, reaffirmed "the steadfast conviction of my country that the unjust division of Germany will surely come to an end."

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, called on Eisenhower to appear directly to the German people for a plebiscite which he said could lead to reunification.

MEANY SAID the leaders of the Western Big Three could reach the Germans by press and radio to promote a UN-sponsored vote on how to go about reunifying West and East Germany. The Soviet Union has steadfastly rejected all western demands for such a vote.

A German socialist leader in Worms proposed that UN secretary general Dag Hammarskjöld try to settle the reunification problem. Dr. George August Zinn, minister president (governor) of the state of Hesse suggested Hammarskjöld seek East-West agreement on Germany.

PUBLIC RALLIES were staged throughout West Germany in tribute to the millions of East Germans who rebelled against Red rule June 17, 1953. Bonfires were lit along the West German border from the Baltic Sea to Czechoslovakia. Communist-surrounded West Berlin was ringed with flaming torches.

Communist authorities in East Germany sought to divert attention from the occasion with public entertainments and sports events. No disturbances were reported.

The 1953 rebellion was touched off by workers' resentment against increased work quotas and poor living conditions.

Jail for Money

East Alton, Ill. (AP)—LeRoy Harrison, one of the owners of an inn, tried to deposit the night's receipt in the chute of a night depository at his bank. The chute was clogged with a sack of money. When he tried to manipulate it so it could make his own deposit, it came out of the chute and he couldn't get it back. He took it to the police who locked it up for the night in the jail. A deposit slip in the bag indicated it contained $763.32 and was to be deposited for the United Cerebral Palsy Fund of Madison County.

Traffic Movement Normal Despite IBM Change Here

Transfer of the Electric Type-writer division from Poughkeepsie to the local plant of International Business Machines Corporation over the weekend "went very smoothly" and no appreciable difference in traffic to the plant was noted Monday morning.

Movement of the division to Kingston saves approximately 641 Kingston residents a daily commuting trip to Kingston, indicating an increase in the number of automobiles headed for the plant during the morning rush hour on the city's main streets.

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren reported that he checked the flow of traffic through the city in the direction of the IBM plant Monday morning and it moved according to schedule.

The weekend move was begun Friday and continued through Sunday, a spokesman at the plant said today. No loss in production or working time was in-involved in the moving operation, he said, and "everything went very smoothly with the plant operation already for personnel when they reported to work Monday morning."

A number of assembly departments and their associated services were included in the transfer. These will occupy 60,000 square feet of floor space at the local plant. Full-scale operations in assembling and shipping were scheduled yesterday.

Would Serve Glens Falls

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Authority is considering Mohawk Airlines' request that it be allowed to serve Glens Falls, N. Y. The line yesterday told the CAA that the city needs east-west service and Mohawk would provide with two round trips a day. The airline said that it would schedule trips between Boston and Buffalo by way of Utica-Rome, Syracuse and Rochester, N. Y.

Faces Charges

Denver, June 19 (AP)—Mrs. Patsie Sargent, 27, will be returned to New York state to face charges that she kidnapped her five-year-old daughter from Massena, N. Y. She was freed on personal recognizance bond yesterday pending arrival of extradition papers. Mrs. Sargent is charged with taking her daughter Judy from New York state during legal proceedings she had launched to regain custody of the girl. On April 13, Mrs. Sargent was awarded an interlocutory divorce decree from her husband John, 45, and custody of Judy.

One-Way Street Program

Editor, The Freeman:
May I, as a taxpayer and a resident on Clinton avenue, say a few words in defense of Mayor Stang and the one way street program?

We on Clinton avenue have borne the full load of tractor-trailer, truck and vehicular traffic for a number of years going two ways. Why should one street, and a narrow one at that, take the full load? It matters not to us which way Clinton avenue is one way, but it should remain one way. It is virtually impossible for a pedestrian to cross the street with two way traffic. Now one can cross with a minimum of trouble.

Now, as to a few of the merchants on North Front street. I cannot believe that they are losing business. Thousands of dollars are spent in Poughkeepsie every year by Kingstonians who travel on one way streets there. Also, there are people who travel by bus to Poughkeepsie and walk blocks to shop. I know this to be true as I am there two days a week in a business capacity. It seems logical that if one wants to shop on North Front street, one will shop there. I myself drive and shop on North Front street and travel out of my way, but I travel with ease. Before the one way street program went into effect, one was constantly stopping and starting along North Front street. Loading and unloading trucks blocked the street, as they still do, but it is much easier to pass them now as traffic flows in one direction. Would some of the merchants of North Front street prefer one way traffic coming in from Routes 28 and 209? This seems to be what they are concerned about. We on Clinton avenue would go along with that, of this I am sure, as I have talked with almost every person on Clinton avenue.

I think that Mayor Stang should be commended for having the foresight to recognize this problem due to the expanding city and county. Most of our faster growing cities have had to resort to one way street programs and they have proven to be successful.

I wish to thank you for allowing me the use of this space in The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Sincerely,
JEANNE M. SCHWARTZ
(Mrs. Roger Baer Schwartz)

HIGH HOSPITAL COSTS

The people who look at a hospital bill and say you can't afford to be sick any more are probably right. And so are the hospitals, which keep jacking up their prices but say they still can't make ends meet.

A hospital room costs more than a first-class hotel, patients observe, but they are inclined to forget all the expensive services essential to a hospital and non-existent in a hotel.

The professional crew of doctors, nurses and technicians there for three shifts a day, seven days a week; the special equipment, from elaborate machines to thermometers; the food service—all these are routine in the hospital program and costly items in the budget.

Any hospital worthy of its accreditation has to be staffed for an emergency all the time. It can't cut its personnel much nights and weekends, as other businesses do.

The only answer, to keep up the quality of service without charging impossible rates to patients, seems to be to spread the costs. Insurance plans have done this in one way. Public drives for funds do it in another.

It's almost as important to the person who hasn't been in a hospital lately to have a good hospital nearby as it is to the current patients. He may be next on the patient list. If a hospital is intelligently run, contributing to its public fund drive is one of the best ways residents of the area can insure themselves of good care when they need it.

CAPITOL FACE-LIFT

Though Europeans might regard it as a fairly new structure, the Capitol in Washington is venerable by United States standards. And whether or not the building is considered ancient, there is little question that it is more dilapidated than our legislative house ought to be. Lawmakers also find it rather cramped quarters in which to conduct the nation's multi-billion-dollar business.

A commission of architects has begun work, at the behest of Congress, on plans to remedy the situation by tearing out the Capitol's front wall and extending the portico. Some architects are unhappy about the proposed changes. One has spoken of the project as "a prize piece of architectural boondoggling."

Americans don't want the Capitol spoiled. But they will recognize the need for more space. If changes can be made in harmony with the present structure, good.

EASY MONEY

Light on the question why rackets flourish was recently given by certain citizens of Philadelphia. A newspaper, suspecting that people give to causes of which they know nothing, sent reporters out on the streets to take up collections for high-sounding but non-existent charities.

Some had names that would arouse suspicion in a moron. Among them were "National Heroin Addicts," "American Society of Refugee Communists," "Society for the Relief of Twinkletoe Children." Of the 65 persons approached, most gave anywhere from a dime to a dollar.

Why do people act that way? Perhaps they save their conscience in some obscure way like the many who, despite wise counsel to the contrary, still give to panhandlers. The one sure thing that such people accomplish is to convince swindlers that easy money is there for the asking.

Mrs. Bulganin entertained her first American guest in Moscow and served home made strawberry jam. If heads of state could just get their communications down to the give-and-take level of a recipe exchange, a lot of world problems might be solved.

Add to the collection of pointless ceremonies: New York, which gets everything sooner or later, acquired an acre of lemon trees recently, just because somebody planted the first lemon tree in America 100 years ago.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

L'I'L ABNER DIPLOMACY

Everybody comes up with ideas and there can be no objection to that if the ideas are of value. Thomas J. Watson of the International Business Machines Corporation put signs all over his factories and offices containing the single word, "Think." His employees were supposed to think, but what about? Were they to think about business machines, world problems, or the evil of taxes?

It would truly be wonderful if everybody had a mind like Aristotle's and could think out all sorts of problems, but even Aristotle got twisted when he tried to think in the biologic sciences about which he was more mythological than scientific. On the other hand, Einstein thought brilliantly in the natural sciences, but was a dud in the realm of politics and the American Constitution.

So when someone comes up with the idea of a people-to-people diplomacy and brings everything down to the simplicities of L'I'l Abner Yokum of Dogpatch, U.S.A., the prospect of confusion becomes increasingly great, because obviously thought can only be generated by knowledge and most of us know very little about the facts of life which make others seem to be so queer.

Why, for instance, are so many Italians Communists? And that bothers many Americans, some of whom thought that the best way to solve the problem would be to load Italy down with financial and military aid; then all Italians would be grateful to the United States and they would forthwith become capitalists. In all this "thinking" about Italy, such thinkers forget that there were socialists objectionable to Italians there could never have been a Mussolini, who was a Socialist, the associate for many years of Angelica Balabanov. They have called Mussolini a Fascist so long that they have forgotten that Fascism like Nazism was an offshoot of Hegelianism plus Marxism, and that the Italian people welcomed Mussolini's brand and lived under it for 21 years until Italy was defeated in war by American troops and then Mussolini was murdered. It is probably correct to say that Mussolini was not murdered for having wrong ideas but for being defeated. The worst that can happen to a politician is to be defeated.

So, the thinkers worry about France and wonder why the French people seem not to give a tinker's damn about what happens to their country for which the Americans fought and bled in two wars. The idea again was to pour hundreds of millions of dollars into France, to make France the capital of NATO, and to make up in American aid what the French people default in taxes. And then the French would all be pro-American. We now grow very angry with the French because they take our money but go awry in their own way just the same. They have no sense of gratitude.

What we seem to forget is that France has more or less been at war since 1789; that Napoleon built an empire on the bodies of dead Frenchmen; that Germany invaded France and occupied all or large parts of France in 1870, 1914 and 1940; that France is now a battlefield between Soviet Russia and the United States and must, by any logic, be destroyed—physically destroyed—in the next war; and that the French do not care at all for what they see ahead of them. Also, the French had built a nest-egg for themselves in Morocco and Algeria and that just as the French were let down in French Indo-China by their allies and associates, so they are now being let down by Great Britain and the United States in their North African problems because "colonialism" has become unpopular in the democratic countries.

So the average Frenchman says that he hates war and taxes and all he wants is to be left to his own devices and that he can eat bread and cheese and drink wine under one fater as under another, meaning his own politicians. No L'I'l Abner diplomacy, no pep friendships, no people-to-people propaganda will make very much difference as long as the prospect for the future is war and taxes. The Frenchman says that he will be dead and buried before the politicians stop stealing and before peace comes to mankind. Therefore he wants to live while he is alive. It is an idea. That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

ANXIETY

There is a great deal being written about anxiety and I feel that it is an important enough problem to pass some of this information along to my readers for the next few days. This information is from the Professional Relations Department, New York City. We may think that we are free from anxiety but it is pretty definite that very few of us are and the sooner we recognize its existence, the sooner we can take steps, of various kinds, to try to get rid of it.

Anxiety has come to be recognized as the most common symptom of our age; an estimated one-half to two-thirds of the patients a doctor sees will be suffering from some degree of anxiety and this does not include those whose symptoms are not severe enough for them to consult their physician. While the exact manner in which anxiety affects us is not fully understood, the tendency of anxiety to aggravate the symptoms of physical disease is well known.

The great majority of the anxiety patients do not, of course, suffer from the much-discussed extremes, such as schizophrenic and paranoid psychoses, but from the lesser degrees, ranging from simple tension to the chronic neuroses which, for the most part, are treated by the general physician and psychiatrist without need for institutional confinement.

There has been, in the past two or three years, a new medical attack on anxiety, an attack built around a new group of drugs, the tranquilizers or "quieters." Two of these drugs have been largely responsible for the progress made in the treatment of patients in institutions for the mentally ill. Others, released for use only in the past year, have shown promise in the treatment of milder cases of anxiety and "Twentieth Century Tension."

What is anxiety? The healthy and well-balanced human machine reacts to what it considers a threat to its living pattern in one of two ways. It acts to remove the threat or it removes itself from the path of the threat. This is the basis of the familiar "fight-or-flight" idea of adjustment. When the human machine does not act as a whole in either of these ways, when there is internal conflict and inefficiency, then there is anxiety.

Anxiety is not the same thing as fear, although both may occur at the same time and result in similar symptoms. Fear is a reaction to a specific danger while anxiety is generally unspecific and objectless—it is a condition of heightened tension and apprehension that often cannot be pinned down. Both fear and anxiety are signals that the security pattern of the individual is threatened. Like fear, anxiety sets various processes of the body in motion, a state of "armed readiness," that may lead to disturbances as difficult breathing, palpitation of the heart, muscular pain, headache and stomach and intestinal upsets.

Although there is wide disagreement as to the cause of anxiety, many authorities believe that the groundwork is laid in childhood by the attitude of parents to the child, creating in it conflict, resentment and insecurity and a proneness to anxiety.

"Pardon Me---I'd Like to Take His Pulse"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA) — President Eisenhower's bedside conference with Gov. Sherman Adams was recognized as a dramatic move to save his foreign aid program—but maybe a little too late.

House action which cut the 4.9 billion dollar request to 3.8 billion by a 273 to 122 vote is cited as the reason. Debate on the House floor made it appear that:

1. Many congressmen rallied to support Rep. James P. Richards (D-S. C.) who led the fight for the cut.
2. Other congressmen were angry at President Tito of Yugoslavia for returning to Moscow and drinking vodka.
3. Some congressmen were influenced by Comptroller General Joseph Campbell's report that: "Overoptimistic foreign aid planning has resulted in appropriation of more money than can be spent by International Cooperation Administration."

4. There was a growing mistrust of Pentagon administration of the military assistance, mutual security programs.
THESE WERE the surface indications of why the House cut foreign aid. But deeper down in the muddier waters along the bottom were three other factors influencing the vote:

1. Rural resentment against foreign aid spending.
2. Thus Rep. John L. Pilcher (D-Ga.) declared, "I cannot understand why we want to add more money to this program when farmers are going broke, when taxes have reached the saturation point."

Putting it even stronger, Rep. Iris Blitch (D-Ga.) declared in what she said was her first speech on the floor:

"Why was it last year we could not reduce the income tax of the lower middle class people of this country to the tune of even $100? Are we trying to destroy them with wastage?"

2. A change in sentiment from internationalist to isolationist in the rapid industrialization of the South.

REPUBLICAN strategists on the House floor thought they saw this trend in the fact that even Speaker Sam Rayburn—who made one of his rare, impassioned pleas for the full foreign aid authorization—was deserted by most of his Texas colleagues. And the entire North Carolina delegation backed Chairman Richards.

Heretofore it has been the southerners who have taken the lead in supporting big foreign aid programs. They have been strong internationalists and even interventionists. Now many seem to have become nationalist and isolationist.

What has happened is that many textile mills are having difficulties. There is organized opposition against Japanese textile imports. There is resentment against countries that are now growing their own cotton and exporting it to compete with American overproduction. So the foreign policy thinking of an entire area is undergoing change.

THE THIRD POINT is the lack of inspired drive from the Republican leadership to put foreign aid over. They fought tired.

In spite of its occasional bursts of enthusiasm for bipartisan foreign policy and international cooperation, prevailing opinion in the GOP is recognized as isolationist. When coupled with the new Democratic converts to this cause, majorities are provided to curb foreign aid materially.

President Eisenhower's appeals for his program came too late and were not strong enough to whip his followers into line. Privately, Republicans in Congress wished he had done more. Democrats like Speaker Rayburn, Reps. McCormack (Mass.) and Brooks Hays (Ark.)—who took the lead in trying to support the full foreign aid program—felt they were left exposed and without the foundation needed for their stand.

Questions—Answers

Q—What battle of the War of 1812 is known as the "Needless Battle"?

A—The Battle of New Orleans, the last battle of the war. A treaty of peace had been signed at Ghent, Belgium, 15 days before the battle took place.

Q—What became of Rudolf Diesel, for whom the diesel engine is named?

A—Diesel mysteriously disappeared from a German ship bound for London in the autumn of 1913, preceding the outbreak of World War I.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, June 18—John Bradley, of Antigo, Wisconsin, now a funeral director, was a member of the group of United States Marines who were photographed raising the stars and stripes on Mount Surabachi, a small hill but a commanding observation post, on Iwo Jima Island. This position was captured by E. Company, Second Battalion, 28th Regiment, Fifth Marine Division on Feb. 23, 1945. The picture, snapped by Joe Rosenthal, a combat photographer of the Associated Press, is probably the most dramatic episode picture in American history. It has been translated into bronze in heroic dimensions, a statue which now stands prominently in Arlington, Va., on a site overlooking the Potomac. The picture shows four men who were there two others who are obscured by the camera angle and figures of the four.

John Bradley said today, however, that this show was a retake and that not all of the members of the second party who are immortalized in countless reproductions, possibly millions of them, and in bronze, were members of the original cast. He, himself, was not among the group which first raised the stars and stripes that day. All concerned were members of the same company but Mr. Bradley said, "I did not go up with the original patrol. Rosenthal came up a little bit later. You see the flag Rosenthal took wasn't the first one. There was a patrol going up to secure the hill. Lieutenant Schrier, I am not sure that is the correct way to spell his name, was the platoon leader. He is still in the corps. When the first group got there, he had a flag in his jacket and broke it out. We had a skirmish with the Japanese in a crater at the top. They were in caves. We did not have any casualties just then, they had some casualties. We got them with flame throwers. The patrol bent this first flag on an old piece of pipe, then secured the flag to the pipe. There were five in this group."

"Was that Indian from Sacaton Reservation in Arizona, who died last year, a member of the first group?"

"No," Mr. Bradley said. "I do not think so. His name was Ira Hayes. He was a heck of a nice fellow. None of those who put up the first flag was killed." He himself, was wounded with shrapnel in the right foot and leg some time later and evacuated to Pearl Harbor and thence back to the United States. Thus he lost contact with E. Company.

"Do you know how many of the men in the picture were in the detail which raised the first flag?"

"No," he said. "I know I was not. There was no picture of the raising of the first flag. I did not go up with the original patrol. I was a hospital corpsman of the Navy but I wore the Marine uniform. The purpose of raising the flag was to tell the Americans that we held this high place. It was quite a relief to see that flag. This was about five days after we landed on the island. It was about five miles long, an odd shape, about three miles wide. After I do not know, maybe 20 minutes or two hours, another flag appeared. I think this large flag was taken off some ship somewhere. We did not use a stick. We used the same old piece of pipe."

I forgot to ask Mr. Bradley what happened to the first flag. An uncertain, undefinable peculiarity prompted Lieut. James Patterson, U. S. A., to remark soon after V-J Day that the scene seemed to him to have been arranged. Mr. Patterson is the son of the late Joseph Medill Patterson, a battery commander in the last war, and founder and, until his death, the publisher of the New York Daily News.

Jimmy Patterson, a West Pointer, served in the second war and retired to follow the career of his father and mother, the former Miss Mary King, who as editor collaborated with Captain Patterson in the development of the News. Visiting his uncle, the late Col. Robert R.

McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, late in 1945, Jimmy expressed skepticism. Colonel McCormick had often ribbed the Marines for immodesty and had capsuled all this with the observation that there could never be a monument to an unknown Marine. Notwithstanding his amiable banter about the Marines' reputation, Colonel McCormick muffled Jimmy's casual and probable unintentional tip. McCormick's own outfit was the first Infantry Division, Pershing's pride, known as the big red one which gives no ground to the Marines.

The story of the dedication of the monument identifies the Marines of the detail as Private Franklin R. Soussy, Ewing, Ky.; Ira Hayes, the Arizona Indian; John Bradley, Sergeant Henry O. Hansen, of Sonoma, Calif.; and, in the background, Private Rene A. Gagnon, of Manchester, N. H., and Sgt. Michael Strank, of Conemaugh, Pa.

This account relates that Soussy, Hansen and Strank were killed on Iwo Jima.

So They Say..

We need a new House office building like a hole in the head. —Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Ia.) on proposed 150-million-dollar House of Representatives office building.

By Jove! That's a jolly good thing. It's about time somebody else climbed it. We can relax and forget it. —Sir Edmund Hillary, first to climb Mount Everest, after Swiss climbers made the ascent.

Saugerties School Meeting Slated For Mt. Marion

The third in a series of area group meetings to discuss the building program and the $3,475,000 bond issue of the Saugerties Central School District will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Mount Marion Reformed Church House. Ward Tongue will act as chairman of the meeting. The meetings are being held in order to inform the voters of the school district concerning the building program and its cost.

COLORED SLIDES of the proposed junior-senior high school, floor plans of each, and information concerning the proposed reconstruction of the Glasgow and Main Street School, Saugerties, will be presented by Miss Grace Anderson, chairman of the Citizen's Advisory Group.

The chairman of the finance committee of the Board of Education, John Lowther, will tell about the building and reconstruction costs, tax rates, and financial plans of the school district for the next few years.

Voters of the school district are urged to attend in order to be prepared to vote on the bond issue Friday, June 29.

Expect '56 Boom Will Carry Over

Washington, June 18 (P)—This will be the nation's biggest business year and the boom "ought to carry over into 1957," according to the chief economist of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt made this prediction after weighing fresh reports from 15 industry sources. The individual forecasts also were made public Saturday at the Chamber's midyear business symposium.

SCHMIDT SAID his prediction of prosperity would stand even if President Eisenhower decides not to run for re-election because of his latest illness.

There would be an "initial shock" if Eisenhower should withdraw, Schmidt said, but "fundamental elements of strength" in the economy soon would reassure businessmen.

Executives of 14 trade associations, and a banker whose personal forecast did not side with the majority's optimism, gave their views to reporters.

MOST PANELISTS were confident the boom this year would top 1955 and that the second half of 1956 would top the first six months.

Agriculture and food industry spokesmen were cautiously optimistic. Construction industry spokesmen were unanimously cheerful, except for those in housing.

Distribution industry spokesmen forecast record sales levels, except for automobiles. Spokesmen for the consumer credit and savings and loan industries also were optimistic.

IN THE LATTER group, only Washington banker Justin Bowersock had a gloomy outlook. He said a business recession is ahead

STRIKES UTILITY POLE—Walter Tubbs, 27, of Fleischmanns, was taken to Kingston Hospital after his car, traveling south on Route 9W, Esopus, went off the right side of the highway on a right curve, traveled about 90 feet in a ditch and struck a utility pole, according to Trooper Stephen Kurpil of the Highland state police. Mr. Tubbs was reported in good condition at the hospital. He was issued a summons under the "endangering" section of the motor vehicle laws returnable before Justice of the Peace Francis E. Palen, Jr., of Port Ewen. (Anner photo).

unless the economy gets what he called "a shot in the arm."

Bowersock suggested it is time for either tax reduction or easier credit policy, or both. He said a "malignant amount of weakness" may be reflected in lagging sales of autos and new homes, a shortage of lending funds and in other areas of economic activity.

Schmidt said he thinks the economy is experiencing a "rolling readjustment," with some industries declining while others rise.

HE SAID the government can take tax relief and money management measures if these are needed in the event of a business recession.

A representative of the National Automobile Dealers Assn. was pessimistic, describing the outlook for car dealers as "grim." A spokesman for the homebuilding industry was more hopeful than confident.

Two Areas Get Relief From Long Heat Wave

(By The Associated Press)

Welcome relief from the season's longest heat wave came to the northeast and sections of the Midwest today. But hot and humid weather continued in wide parts of the country.

The cool air from the north-east spread as far south as the Central Atlantic States and eastward into the Ohio valley and the lower Great Lakes region. Temperatures were in the low 60s in the Middle Atlantic coastal region this morning, 8 to 12 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier. Fair weather prevailed from New England southward but thunder showers and warm and humid weather were forecast for later today in the Middle Atlantic States.

Some scientists believe that carbon dioxide released by burning of coal and oil is helping to make the world warmer.

Marion Davies Mansion Will Give Way to 20-Unit Motel

Hollywood, June 19 (AP)—In 1926, Marion Davies decided to create a beach home.

Before she was finished, the screen star poured millions into what became the most lavish showplace in the film colony.

It all started in the era when the film famous were going in for beach houses. Miss Davies wanted one, too, and chose a couple of identical buildings on the Santa Monica shore. She wired architect William Flannery to hurry westward to design a 15-foot hallway to connect the two buildings. The job was to cost $7,500.

BUT ONE THING led to another. The rooms seemed to be too small, so they had to be enlarged. The new hallway made the ceilings seem too low. Someone suggested jacking up the second floor.

The blonde actress concluded: "Look, as long as you've gone this far, let's start fresh and do a real house."

When the main house was finished in 1930, the bill came to $1,750,000.

HOW COULD a single house cost that much? It was easy in those lush, free-spending days. Agents shopped all over the British Isles to find rooms in ancient manors that could be wholly transported to the Davies home. Many of the 37 fireplaces were 200 to 300 years old. The chandeliers were hand-cut crystal from Tiffany's.

The balustrades alone took the efforts of 75 craftsmen carving for a year. The ceilings were perfect reproductions of old drawings and photographs. One was an 18th century fresco imported from a London town house.

By the time Miss Davies completed the whole project, there were five buildings, including those to house her father, sisters and the 32 servants who staffed the place. The construction was reported to have cost over three million dollars and the furnishings to have added another four million.

FOR 15 YEARS, the Davies mansion was one of the centers of Hollywood society. Many a gala party was held in its great rooms, many a visiting dignitary slept in its ancient beds.

In 1945, the actress tired of the huge home and moved to a more modest mansion in Beverly Hills. After auctioning off the furnishings, she sold the place in 1947 for $600,000. Observers estimated that was about what the fireplaces had cost her.

Promoters tried to run the place as a private club, but soon met financial failure. In 1949, it was done over as a lavish hotel called Ocean House and opened to the public.

TOURISTS CAME to the place to ogle the rich trappings, but not enough stayed overnight. Price was a factor. You could stay in the third floor Marion Davies suite with its twin marble bathrooms for $45 a night.

Ocean House proved too costly to maintain. It closed down two years ago, with part of the property continuing as a beach club. The white paint began to peel from the once spotlessly white exterior, and the rare plants faded from neglect.

Last month owner Joseph Drown asked for permission to tear down the main building and two others and erect a 20-unit motel. His request was fought by nearby residents Harold Lloyd and Darryl Zanuck, who claimed it would lead to deterioration of the beach front property. But the city of Santa Monica granted the hotelman's application.

Demolition is expected to begin at the end of summer, thus erasing a glorious remnant of Hollywood's past.

Steam Engines Scarce

Kearney, Neb. (AP)—There appears to be a brisk demand for used railroad locomotives, the Kearney city council learned. The council asked the Union Pacific Railroad for a retired engine to be placed in one of the city parks. The railroad replied that because of previous demands from other cities, the supply of old engines is exhausted.

SWEETIE PIE

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Mrs. E. M. Hendry sent me a very interesting issue of a magazine I never saw before, called "Yankee" printed in Dublin, N. H. There is a "Yankee Swappers' column." They have various sailing advertisements with pictures.

The article which interested me is called "On a Bicycle Built for Ten." Arthur F. Joy wrote the article and has some excellent photos of the famous 10-seater bicycle called "Oriten" (a huge machine which actually seated 10 people.) It was the only one of its kind in the whole world, and in an era when competition was fierce, wrote Mr. Joy, "its likeness was never duplicated by competitors anywhere." It cost over $1,200, and today can be seen at the Ford Museum in Dearborn, Mich.

For those who care to go into details, only the front and back wheels touched the ground, otherwise it had 20 sprocket wheels the largest being 16 inches, and smallest 6 inches.

It weighed some 305 pounds. The length overall was 22 feet and nine inches. The saddles were 22 inches apart, the wheel diameters were 30 inches. This contraption was able to support up to 2,500 pounds. It took 45 working days to build it, and it was exhibited throughout America, so perhaps some of the readers remember this wonder of wonders of the gay nineties.

Charles H. Metz dreamed this 10-seater bicycle up and took it to fast tracks such as Bicycle Park in Waltham and Charles River Track, at Cambridge. It is said, the "Oriten" was ridden a mile in two minutes and 12 seconds. In time it was exhibited all over Europe. It is said, it took drawn to keep the big "wheel" on even keel.

Perhaps some of the local

Sanderson of Waltham remembered Charles Metz and his 10-seater bicycle, the "Oriten" which went all over Europe on exhibition. George M. Tinker worked at the famous Metz bicycle factory from 1898 to 1900 and he said, "Unless you had very tricky to steer. Women are said to have been on it too. It really was unbelievable that from 1,500 to 2,000 pounds could rest on those two wood-rimmed wheels with their pneumatic tires and its chain drive affair." Walter Metz, son of the founder and creator of the 10-seater rode and steered the machine in a parade as late as 1915. Last he saw of it was at the Ford Museum in Michigan in 1941. He remembered a bevy of Floradora girls on and around it in a picture in his home around 1900. Let no one say that bicycles are of a forgotten age, for just recently, Dr. Paul Dudley White heart specialist of Boston who was chosen from the heart specialists of the country to take care of President Eisenhower, says in part, he wished that the American people would become bicycle minded, they would live longer.

Cases on Monday In County Court

Bartley Leon Smith, 24, of Salisbury Mills, entered a plea of guilty to illegal possession of a firearm Monday afternoon in County Court before County Judge Louis G. Bruhn. Smith, a truck driver, was hunting with a party of friends when a game warden happened along and found a pistol in the car. Smith had no license and was charged with violation of Section 1897, Sub. 4, and held for grand jury action. Because of the technical violation, Judge Bruhn suspended imposition of any sentence. Bail was exonerated.

Sentence in the case of Geraldine Ray, 27, of 57 Van Buren street, was postponed until Wednesday at 10 o'clock. She was found guilty by a jury of failing to control her children and was transferred to Middletown State Hospital for observation and examination prior to sentence. She has been returned for sentence.

An indictment charging grand larceny, second degree, returned by the grand jury against Edgar Buchbinder, Ellenville, was dismissed. Defendant has since died at the Tuberculosis Hospital. The indictment charged Buchbinder had taken the car of John Anthony, 10 North Main street, Ellenville, and had also tampered with the ignition wires on the car of George Slutsky of Pine Street in an attempt to start it. When arrested he had in his possession a wire cutter removed from the Anthony car. The case of Elijah Garvin was moved over the term by Harry Gold, attorney for defendant. Garvin is charged with burglary and unlawful entry. Judge Bruhn is disqualified in the action and an out of town judge will hear the case. Garvin was remanded to jail.

Several other cases were moved over to Wednesday for disposition before the court and jury. Court recessed until today when civil matters will come up for disposition before the court and jury.

Opposition Ready For Wednesday on WS Train Cutting

Opposition to abandonment or curtailment of passenger service on the West Shore Railroad will be voiced locally on Wednesday before the Public Service Commission at a hearing to be held at the court house at 10 a. m. The New York Central Railroad has petitioned the Commission to grant permission to either abandon passenger service entirely or at least curtail the service on the West Shore on the grounds the railroad is annually operating at a "huge deficit."

At a hearing in New York city Monday the railroad asked to abandon service, or to limit train service to 22 daily trains between Tappan and West Haverstraw. An application is pending before the New Jersey Public Utility Commission for abandonment of passenger service on the New Jersey part of the line. Commuters on the line have vigorously opposed any such action.

Today the commission is holding a hearing in Poughkeepsie and the Kingston hearing Wednesday will be a continuation of the hearings on the petition for abandonment.

Corporation Counsel James Abernathy will appear on behalf of the city of Kingston to oppose the petition and the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce has authorized appearance in opposition to curtailment of passenger service at this time.

Other groups will also appear in opposition, including counsel for the various commuter groups along the line.

The hearing will be before Richard H. Balch, hearing commissioner for the Public Service Commission. Gerald E. Dwyer, New York Central attorney, will appear for the railroad.

The hearing will be before Richard H. Balch, hearing commissioner for the Public Service Commission. Gerald E. Dwyer, New York Central attorney, will appear for the railroad.

A highlight of Capt. Craig's talk is expected to be a discussion of the new atomic submarines recently launched by the navy.

Fred Van Deusen, a well-known local magician, will perform. A buffet supper will be served after the meeting.

Joseph Avis of Kingston is president of the Ulster County Shrine Club and Augustus P. Modjeska is president of the Woodstock Square Club. A large attendance is expected.

Police Without Clues

Washington, June 19 (AP)—An apparent case of double murder developed today with a pathologist's report that a Maryland teenager was strangled before her nude body was flung into a Virginia stream. The finding left Maryland and Virginia police with virtually no clues in the deaths of Shelby Jean Venable, 16, of North Laurel, Md., and Mary Elizabeth Fellers, 18, of Beltsville, Md. Shelby Jean's body was found floating face down last Thursday in Catocin creek, a Potomac river tributary near Wheatland, Va. This was about nine miles from the spot where Mary Elizabeth's body, also naked, was found five days earlier. The area is about 50 miles northwest of Washington.

Admits Slaying Cleric

Poteau, Okla., June 19 (AP)—Undersheriff Orville McCroskey said a 27-year-old former convict, Edward Leon (Pete) Williams, admitted early today he shot to death a young Tulsa minister who gave him a ride near Tulsa Sunday. McCroskey said Williams told of shooting the Rev. Tommie Robert Cooke, 24-year-old assistant pastor of the Glenwood Baptist Church in Tulsa, during a struggle three miles east of Taft, between Tulsa and Muskogee. Williams said he forced Cooke to pull over to the side of the road and started to tie him up with a belt but the minister resisted. Williams was quoted as saying he shot Cooke in the head with a .38-caliber pistol, then threw the gun away.

There's No Summer Treat Like Blueberry Pancakes

NEW GLAMOR is provided our old friend, the pancake, when fresh blueberry season rolls around once again.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Do you like fresh blueberry pancakes as much as our family does? We use a recipe our friend Susan Adams of Redding, Connecticut gave us. Susan is rated as one of the best cooks in the New York area, and she certainly knows how to treat fresh blueberries.

Blueberry Pancakes
Sift together 1 cup flour and 5 tablespoons confectioner's sugar. Stir in 1 cup milk, stirring until perfectly smooth. In a deep bowl beat 3 eggs until light and foamy. Add 1/4 teaspoon salt and fold through eggs. Carefully fold the eggs through flour mixture. Don't beat. Add a little grated orange rind and 1 teaspoon lemon juice or orange juice.

Fry on hot lightly buttered griddle, pouring only about 2 tablespoons batter onto griddle. Cakes should be paper thin and spread all over surface of griddle. Fry gently until crisp and just soft enough to roll.

Mash 1 cup blueberries and add sugar to taste, then add whole berries. Brush pancakes with melted butter and fill with blueberries. Roll, fasten with picks. Dust with confectioner's sugar and serve hot.

Blueberry Cream Pie
Using a pastry mix or your own favorite pastry recipe, make a nine-inch pie shell, building it up to a high edge, with a nice even fluting. When it is cold fill full with vanilla pudding mix. Place in refrigerator until set.

Mash 1 cup blueberries in 1 cup water and cook gently for 10 minutes. Run through a sieve and add 1 cup sugar to this liquid. Heat to dissolve and bring to boiling point. Stir into it 1 tablespoon gelatin, which has been soaked in 2 tablespoons cold water. Add 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice, and when juice is cold, add 2 cups big fresh blueberries.

Place in refrigerator until thick. Now pour over the pudding in the pie shell and top with the choicest big blueberries. Keep in refrigerator until ready to serve.

This is a delicious pie which may be made the day before.

TOMORROW'S DINNER

Broiled steak, peach plum jam, baked stuffed potatoes, baby lima beans, sliced cucumbers, blueberry cream pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Miss Beverly Neer Is Betrothed to Wed

BEVERLY NEER

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Neer Jr., of Rifton, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Beverly, to James J. Kelly of Glen Cove, L. I.

Miss Neer is a graduate of Kingston High School and New Paltz State Teachers College. She will join the teaching staff of Chambers School, Town of Ulster, in September.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Glen Cove High School and has served two years in the U. S. Army. He is now matriculating in the art curriculum at New Paltz State Teachers College.

No date has been set for the wedding.

To My Owner

I am your piano speaking to you, my owner.

Boss, I must tell you how well your child is learning to play. Since you bought me from Winters' on Clinton Avenue she doesn't seem to mind practicing any more. She says I sound so much better and play easier than the old one you had. I'm much smaller than that old one too and don't take up as much room. I surely was a good investment for you wasn't I?—Adv.

Home Extension Service News

Kingston Day Unit held its annual luncheon at Leher's Restaurant last week.

A short business meeting was held with Mrs. Clifford Donohue presiding.

Plans were made for a booth to be erected in the Ulster County Fair in August.

Rock formation in Ulster county will be the topic of a county wide meeting sponsored by the Home Demonstration Department of the Ulster County Extension Service Association.

William Douglas of Ellenville, who has made a study of geology, will talk on rock formation in Ulster county. Sidney Delaney also of Ellenville will tell local history of early settlers and show Indian artifacts.

This meeting is for all interested people and their families. Everyone is invited to meet at the Cragmoor Fire Hall Hall at 6:00 p. m. on June 28, and are asked to bring a picnic supper. The meeting will be held rain or shine and there will be time to get acquainted as well as to hear the talks.

Mrs. William Cranston, county vice chairman of the Ulster county Extension Service Association Home Demonstration Department announced recently that she would meet with all home demonstration unit vice chairmen on Tuesday, June 26, at the Home Demonstration Department office, 220 Wall Street. The meeting will be from 10 until noon. The duties of the unit vice chairman will be reviewed and plans will be made for collecting the membership dues for 1956-57. All unit vice chairmen are urged to attend this meeting. If they cannot, they are urged to send someone else in their place.

Recently a meeting was held at the Home Demonstration Department for newcomers to Ulster county. The purpose of the meeting was to acquaint them with the Ulster County Extension Service Association Home Demonstration Department's program. As a result of this meeting five units have been organized: Hurley Vale, Mrs. F. L. Timperlake, chairman; Simons Park, Mrs. Anthony Martello, chairman; Kingbury, Mrs. Douglas Masterson, chairman; Halcyon Park, Mrs. James Dwyer, acting chairman; Hurley Heights II, Mrs. Donald Luce, chairman. Other units are in the process of being organized. Several Child Development study clubs are also in the process of being formed. Anyone wishing to join a unit or a study club should contact the Home Demonstration Department office, 220 Wall Street for further information.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD P. JONES

Double Ring Ceremony for Louise Guido, Donald Jones Held at St. Colman's Church

Miss Louise Theresa Guido, daughter of Jerome Guido of East Kingston, became the bride of Donald Philip Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Jones, 81 Cornell street, Sunday, June 10, at St. Colman's Church in East Kingston. The Rev. Edmund V. Radford performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Guido carried a white lace and satin fan trimmed with pink lilies and pink roses. Flower girl was Linda Fabiano, cousin of the bride. Miss Fabiano carried a gown of Nile green nylon net, Kate Greenaway fashion, with a bertha neckline and tiered skirt banded with matching ribbon. She wore a plateau heart shaped hat edged with pleated tulle and carried a mint green fan and pink roses.

Albert Serra of 24 New street was the best man. Ushers included William Buckman Jr., and Ralph Guido.

Child ringbearer was Warren Robinson Jr., nephew of the bridegroom. A reception was held at the Capri in Port Ewen following the wedding.

Miss Guido, who attended Kingston High School, is employed by IBM in Kingston. The bridegroom also attended Kingston High School and is employed by DeLaval Separator in Poughkeepsie.

For her wedding trip to Atlantic City, the bride chose a grey and black dress with matching coat, pink accessories and white orchid corsage.

When they return, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will reside in East Kingston.

West Point Organist Will Give Recital

John A. Davis Jr., organist at the United States Military Academy will present a two-hour recital, Sunday, at 3:15 p. m. on the world-famed Cadet Chapel organ at West Point.

The largest church organ in the Western Hemisphere, the West Point instrument has 14,195 pipes. In the 45 years since the original organ was installed, nearly 65 individual stops, four complete divisions, and numerous accessories have been given as memorials.

Presented for the members and friends of the American Guild of Organists, who are holding their national convention in New York city, the recital is also open to the public.

Club Notices

WCTU will hold an all-day meeting Wednesday, at 10:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Samuel Vaughn in Hurley. A picnic lunch will be held at noon. Guests are requested to bring gifts for the Ethel Harps Home. Election of officers will be held.

BRINGING DOG ALONG WHEN VISITING

A reader asks: "When going to visit friends or acquaintances in the evening, is it wrong to bring our dog with us? My husband thinks it is as there are many people who do not like a dog in their houses. Will you please give me your opinion on this matter?"

If he is a well-trained dog and you keep him close beside you on a leash, nobody could reasonably take objection to him. But if he is allowed to run loose and bark and endanger the furniture and carpets, it could be seriously distressing to a hostess.

Showing Appreciation to Boy Friend's Parents

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter has been invited to a prep school in another city for a weekend. She is going down with the boy's parents and they are taking care of all the expenses. I would like to know what she is supposed to do to show her appreciation to them.

Answer: Nothing is expected of your daughter further than being polite and courteous to his parents and showing them that she is pleased. When she leaves them she must, of course, thank the boy's mother and father for taking her and tell them how much she enjoyed the weekend.

The Bride's Father's Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married some time this summer at an evening wedding. All the men in the wedding party are going to wear white dinner jackets. My father is on the heavy side and does not think the white dinner jacket will be very becoming to him. Would it be proper if he wore the dark tuxedo jacket instead, or must he be dressed the same as the other men?

Answer: It is not at all necessary that your father be dressed the same as the other men, and the dark tuxedo coat would be entirely correct.

Do you know how to reply to an introduction? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personally mail Her leaflet E-17, "Introductions," includes this information. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

MR. AND MRS. KAY MCCAIN
(F. X. Millor photo)

Barbara Pennington Wed in Connecticut; Granddaughter of Kingston Resident

Miss Barbara Joan Pennington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferis Marsh Pennington of Woods Grove, Westport, Conn., and granddaughter of Mrs. J. Marsh Pennington, 755 Broadway, this city, became the bride of Kay McCain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Princeton McCain of Newport Richey, Fla., Saturday, June 16, at the Saugatuck Congregational Church, Westport, Conn. The Rev. Gibson Daniels performed the double ring ceremony.

David Williams of New Milford, Conn., was at the organ.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an imported Swiss embroidered organdy gown, fashioned with a portrait neckline, short shirred sleeves with matching organdy gloves. A wreath of baby's breath held her silk illusion veil. Miss Pennington carried a white orchid on a lace covered prayer book.

Miss Priscilla Pennington, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a white embroidered tissue organdy gown fashioned with a bateau neckline and a yellow daisy cummerbund which fell into a back sash. She also wore a headpiece of daisies and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow daisies with yellow centers.

Bridesmaids included Miss Patricia Pennington of Millington, N. J., a cousin of the bride; Miss Catherine Hitch, Miss Martha Shoemaker, Miss Ann Reynolds and Miss Elizabeth Lynch, all of Westport, Conn., and Mrs. Norman Bennett of Somerville, Mass. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid of honor except in soft green. They carried cascade bouquets of white daisies.

Miss Cheryl Lee Thomas, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Miss Thomas is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin J. Thomas of Decker street. For the wedding she wore a white organdy embroidered ballerina length dress and headpiece of daisies and carried a basket of mixed yellow and white daisies.

Best man was Edwin Virgil Petz of Adams, Neb., a law student at Harvard Law School.

Serving as ushers were Loren A. Chenue Jr., of Scarsdale, William A. Chenue, John P. Chenue, also of Scarsdale; Edward Mott, Maplewood, N. J.; Lawrence E. Roberts, Westport, Conn., and Norman Bennett, Somerville, Mass.

Child ringbearer was John David Pennington.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Room of the Saugatuck Congregational Church in Westport, Conn.

Miss Pennington is a graduate of Staples High School and attended Connecticut University and Florida Southern College. She served as secretary of the Interfaith Council in Florida and vice president of the Student Council organization.

Mary Lou Craft Gets Scholarship to Visit Germany This Year

Miss Mary Lou Craft, of Fair Lawn, N. J., formerly of 379 Albany avenue, has been named by the American Field Service as a scholarship winner for a 10-week visit to Germany this summer. Miss Craft is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Gumaer. Mr. Gumaer is the former principal of Myron J. Michael School.

Some 700 students will leave from New York city on June 25 for visits in Europe under the field service plan, returning September 10. Miss Craft will stay with a family in Westphalia, Germany, for several weeks, and will also tour in France.

The American Field Service plan is an exchange program whereby students of other countries visit the United States during the school year, and American students visit abroad during the summer months, in the interest of promoting international understanding.

Miss Craft is a junior in Fair Lawn High School, where she is a member of the Student Council and Library Council and accompanist for the high school choir.

county (N. Y.) executive James B. Hopkins. It includes Wagner, as acting chairman; Nassau county executive A. Holly Patterson, director Karl Matzger of the Middlesex County, N. J., Board of Freeholders; Mayor Thomas Quigley of Stamford, Conn.; Mayor Bernard J. Berry of Jersey City, and Hopkins.

Robert Moses, New York city park commissioner, will act as consultant to the steering committee.

THE DRINKING problems—both water and alcoholic—loomed large in the discussions yesterday.

Police Chief David W. Robbins of Greenwich, Conn., said that "due to a lack of uniform alcoholic beverage laws, we have a situation where youngsters in our area, near the state line, frequently go into New York, drink, and in many cases suffer fatal or serious accidents in returning to their homes."

Other New Jersey and Connecticut officials said that adults, too, scoot across the border into New York to take advantage of the state's later closing bar hours.

"AS WE SEE it," said Director Albert J. Benninger of the Union County, N. J., Board of Freeholders, "there is no question that to a great degree the failure of New York state to act is a contributing factor to delinquency in New Jersey and Connecticut."

On the water drinking problem, Nassau's Patterson requested New York city to turn over its system of artesian wells and underground water conduits extending across Nassau county.

HE SAID THE system is used only in emergencies and will not be needed after New York city completes its Delaware viaduct facilities.

Ownership of city facilities by the county, he said, would enable Nassau county to avert dangerous lowering of its water table below ocean level, as has happened in previous drought periods.

"We will look forward," Patterson said, to the future use of all these former water supply lands in our county for recreational purposes and also to insure future protection and proper use of the fresh water streams."

Patterson joined Mayor John J. Grogan of Hoboken in warning of encroachment on home rule by over-all planning commissions in the area.

"THIS IS especially true," he said, "in view of the fact that to each of the areas there is now guaranteed the constitutional right of home rule." Effective handling of mutual problems, he added, "depends on mutual understanding and cooperation."

Mayor Grogan warned of the "growing power" of various authorities created to administer public works.

Among those taking part in the meeting were Mayors Leo P. Carlin of Newark, Edward J. O'Byrne of Paterson, Nicholas Lacorte of Elizabeth, William J. Hurst of Linden, Ray Manahan of Morristown, and Edgar P. Duell of Hackensack, N. J.; Mayor George R. Brunjes of Norwalk, Conn.; Selectman Griffith Harris of Greenwich, Conn.; and Chairman Victor Shanley of the Rockland County, N. Y., board of supervisors.

Also represented were officials from Bergen, Union, Hudson, Somerset, Middlesex, Essex and Morris counties, N. J.; Nassau, Suffolk and Rockland counties, N. Y., and various cities and towns in Connecticut, in addition to New York city officials.

Tito, Khrushchev

Between the two countries, a relationship he has been careful to describe as one of consultation and cooperation between two independent equals.

The Soviet Union last April announced it had dissolved the Cominform, the "information agency" founded after World War 2 to promote world communism. Yugoslavia was expelled from the Cominform after Tito broke with Stalin, and Tito was attacked repeatedly by the organization.

Tito also said again there would be no change in Yugoslavia's relations with the west as a result of his talks here.

"Our conversations," he declared, "have been guided by getting the largest possible understanding between countries, regardless of ideological and political systems. All the talks are in absolute conformity with strengthening peace and international confidence."

It previously was understood that the new agreement between the two Communist parties would provide primarily for an exchange of information, of delegations and of ideological views. Tito's caution and assurances to the west tended to bear out these reports.

Chief Petty Officer Henry Albright Weds Martha Diorio Before Nuptial Mass

MRS. HENRY G. ALBRIGHT (Gordon photo)

Before a Nuptial Mass on Saturday, June 9, at 11 a. m. in St. James Church, Milton, Miss. Martha Diorio, daughter of Mrs. Mary Diorio of Highland, and the late Joseph Diorio, became the bride of Henry G. Albright, son of Mrs. Harry Albright of Sunset Drive, Port Ewen, and the late Harry Albright, the celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. Francis Swartz, pastor of St. James Church, Milton.

The church was decorated with seasonal flowers.

Mrs. Raymond Shurter was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her brother, Donald Diorio, the bride wore a gown of nylon tulle with lace trimmed neckline and sleeves. Her bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train and a Spanish Chantilly lace veil was gathered to a crown of seeded pearls and the bride carried a prayer book with white roses.

Miss Barbara Schreiber of Highland, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a full length dress of coral crystallette with a long bodice and bouffant skirt. She also wore a matching picture hat of horsehair and carried a colonial bouquet.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue sheer dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue silk shantung dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Richard Christensen, cousin of the bridegroom, was the best man and ushers were Joseph Diorio, and George Schreiber.

A reception was held at the Blossom Farm Inn in Milton following the wedding ceremony.

Miss Diorio is a graduate of Highland High School and Spennan Business School in Newburgh. She was employed by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company in Newburgh.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and the Moran Spencerian School of Business in Kingston. He is now in the service of the U. S. Navy stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., and holds the rank of Chief Petty Officer.

For her trip South, the bride chose a light blue crystallette dress and a corsage of white roses.

The couple will reside in Jacksonville, Fla.

Soviets Offer Big Amount to Egypt

Cairo, Egypt, June 19 (AP)—A source close to Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser said today the Soviet Union has offered to lend Egypt 400 million pounds ($1,120,000,000) to finance almost entirely the Aswan high dam.

The source said Nasser "will not accept the offer 'at present,' pending a careful study of all angles."

The loan offer was reported made by Soviet Foreign Minister Shepilov during talks with Nasser over the weekend. Shepilov is here to attend Egypt's three-day celebration of British evacuation of the Suez canal zone and Egyptian National Day.

Will Ask U. S. Help

Washington, June 19 (AP)—French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau prepared to appeal today to Secretary of State Dulles for firm American support in France's costly battle to crush a bloody revolt in Algeria. The bitter North African fighting, which now is costing France as much as its ill-fated Indochina campaign, was scheduled to come up for review during a meeting at the State Department. The talk was the second of three set up to review far-ranging foreign policy problems.

Britain Ends Blasts

Sydney, Australia, June 19 (AP)—Britain exploded an atomic device off Australia's northwest coast today in the second and final blast of its current series of nuclear experiments. A brief announcement by the British Ministry of supply said the explosion was successful and all safety precautions were in operation in the remote Monte Bello islands, 12 miles off Australia. It added that scientific records were being collected for evaluation.

GI Under Questioning

Munich, Germany, June 19 (AP)—An American soldier was being questioned today in connection with the explosion of a hand grenade in a Munich night club. Seventeen persons, including eight U. S. soldiers, were injured when the blast ripped through the club's bar. The identity of the soldier being held was not announced. German police said a man in an American uniform entered the bar late Sunday night and tossed the grenade after military policemen had ordered a group of soldiers to leave the club because of a midnight curfew.

Back to Normal Habits

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—Thruway speeds were back to their normal driving habits after a brief reform, a state police official says. Capt. Robert V. Annett, director of the police detail of the super-highway, said there was a noticeable reduction in the number of speeders after a public announcement that law officers were patrolling in unmarked cars and using radar to check speeders. Annett said that for two weeks after the announcement more people stayed within the 60-mile-an-hour maximum legal speed. No comparative figures were available.

Plant to Be Shifted

New York, June 19 (AP)—The bulk of the production of the Brooklyn plant of the National Biscuit Co. will be shifted to the company's plant at Lyons, N. Y. The 60-year-old Brooklyn plant is being closed, a company official said, because it is outmoded and does not lend itself to modernization. About 125 persons are employed there. Closing is scheduled for July 6. The plant to be closed processes prepared cake mixes, dates, date nut rolls and candied fruits.

Nylon was first publicly announced in 1938.

Policeman Sentenced

New York, June 19 (AP)—A 35-year-old policeman has been sentenced to 2½ years in prison for shooting a Brooklyn florist last February. Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz sentenced Joseph Gilliam yesterday. Gilliam was convicted on assault charges in the shooting of Constantine Gorgas, 24, Feb. 25. Gilliam, off duty at the time, said he saw two men run from Gorgas' florist shop and suspected a robbery. The policeman entered the shop and struggled with Gorgas. He said he mistook the florist for a burglar.

Infants Starved to Death

New York, June 19 (AP)—The bodies of two infants who apparently starved to death were found in a grubby east side tenement yesterday. The 2-year-old girl and 8-month-old boy evidently had been left alone when their mother was placed in a psychiatric ward eight days ago. A social worker on a routine check found the bodies.

Highland Man Is New Commander Of County Legion

David Murphy of Highland was elected commander of the Ulster County American Legion Monday night at Woodstock.

He succeeds Ernest Gardner of Olive-Memorial Post.

Also elected were: The Rev. Clarence Brown, Kingston, chaplain; John Crowley, Highland, adjutant; Edward M. Church, Ellenville, treasurer and George Flockhart, Wallkill, first vice-commander.

Commander Murphy has held many positions in the American Legion, including commander of Lloyd Post, 193; past adjutant of Lloyd Post and a member of its executive committee.

He also is past president of Highland Hose Company, past president of the Highland Lions Club, Zone 20 chairman of the Lions Club and a past member of the Highland Central School Board. The commander also has served as president of the Highland Little League.

Commander Murphy, who has been employed by IBM for 14 years, is now working at the Kingston plant. He will be chairman of the Ulster county delegation to the state convention in Rochester July 26-28.

No Storm Sighted

Miami, Fla., June 19 (AP)—An air force plane from Bermuda went out today to probe a stormy area which the Weather Bureau said has weakened and shows no signs of becoming a hurricane. The band of squally weather, about 500 miles off the Florida coast, was drifting toward the north and ships in the area reported it was still an open wave. A navy hurricane hunter plane from Jacksonville flew through the area yesterday and the pilot radioed that winds did not exceed 20 miles per hour.

Vassar Alumnae Gift Sets High With $633,825

Last year's record Vassar College Alumnae Fund gift of $540,093 was topped this year by a new high of $633,825 according to an announcement at the annual Alumnae Fund meeting held this week at Poughkeepsie.

Total alumnae giving for 1955-56, including bequests received was reported at $775,505.

THIS EXTRAORDINARY support of a woman's college by its alumnae, which has grown rapidly during the seven years of Vassar's accelerated fund program, draws only on Vassar's 13,000 living graduates and 5,000 ex-students. The background philosophy of the Vassar Alumnae Fund program is that the privately-endowed liberal arts college must turn first to "its own" for the financial support so urgently needed.

This concerted alumnae response, helping Vassar to begin raising faculty salaries, resulted last year in a Ford Merit Award, which brought the college a total of $1,125,000 from the Ford Foundation.

Successor to Barkley

Frankfort, Ky., June 19 (AP)—Gov. A. B. Chandler yesterday named Frankfort Attorney Joseph J. Leary to the U. S. Senate as a temporary replacement for the late Sen. Alben Barkley. The governor announced his choice on the eve of today's meeting of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee in Louisville. The committee will name its nominee to run in the November election for the four remaining year's of Barkley's term. Barkley died April 30. Leary, a close advisor of the governor, was appointed to serve until November. He was co-chairman of Chandler's campaign in last year's gubernatorial race.

Jones Dairy, Nadlers 2-2 in Seven Innings

Mains Fans 13; Gatti Triples

The City Baseball League standings remain unchanged today, as the two undefeated leaders couldn't budge each other in a showdown battle yesterday at the Athletic Field.

Jones Dairy (3-0) and Nadler Motors (2-0) battled to a gaudy 2-2 tie in seven innings. Darkness halted the contest.

Bob Maines of the Motormen and the Dairy's Bruce Bechtold treated the two patrons to one of the best pitching duels of the season.

FYL Opening Game Slated for Monday

Conception Conquers Rosendale

Immaculate Conception scored heavily in two innings to rout Rosendale, 11-1, in a CYO Met League baseball game Sunday at Hasbrouck Park.

A big six-run sixth featured by a bases-loaded triple by Cleba Burns clinched the decision after the Conception nine opened the game with four runs and added another in the fifth. Burns wound up with five runs batted in to easily take batting honors.

Tony Turck, Butch Tomasek and John Gorman were other big guns in the 10-hit attack. Turck had three hits, including a double, Tomasek a two-bagger and single and Gorman a triple and single.

Don Duffy coasted to the win, limiting Rosendale to just three hits. Mario Palladino got the only extra base blow off Duffy, a double. Duffy fanned seven and passed three.

The loss was charged to Kelsch who walked five and whiffed six.

Dark, Lockman Helping Cards Says Hutchinson

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—"If we had the lineup we have now at the start of the season, we'd be in front by four or five games."

Fred Hutchinson, manager of the revamped St. Louis Cardinals, ventured this statement on the eve of a big three-game series with the National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers starting tonight. The two clubs are tied for third, just one game from the top.

He was referring to last week's four-for-four trade which brought Al Dark and Whitey Lockman to the Redbirds from the New York Giants.

Dark, hitting a surprising 412 and Lockman, spraying hits at a .353 pace, are the main reasons for his cautious optimism.

But balancing this is the fact two regulars, Rip Repulski and Wally Moon, will miss the first game and possibly the series with injuries. Rip is hitting .378 and Moon .330.

Tebbets Masterminding Lands Redlegs Back in First Place

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

Manager Birdie Tebbets, who learned to handle pitchers as a catcher, has his Cincinnati Redlegs back in the National League by using an off-beat pattern that makes starters out of relievers and relievers out of starters.

Birdie, who spent 13 years behind the plate, got the job done last night in a 7-4, 10-inning decision over the Philadelphia Phils—in which he yanked Hal Jeffcoat out of the bullpen for a starting job, followed with ace reliever Buster Freeman and then wound up with unbeaten starter Brooks Lawrence, who won his eighth.

IT WAS the second time Tebbets has used Jeffcoat, the outfielder, as a starter and both turn-outs led to victories that pushed the Redlegs into first place. They moved back to the top last night as the Milwaukee Braves extended their revival under new manager Fred Haney with a 3-2 decision over Pittsburgh that dumped the Pirates into second place.

No other NL games were scheduled.

In the American, the New York Yankees retained their 5 1/2 game lead as Mickey Mantle sent his 25th home run rocketing out of Detroit's Briggs Stadium to beat the Tigers 7-4. Chicago's second-place White Sox defeated Baltimore 5-2 and Kansas City clipped Washington 4-3 in the other games scheduled.

The homer-happy Redlegs had to beat the Phils on singles, clipping loser Harvey Haddix, who went all the way, for four in a three-run 10th.

THE PIRATES fell a half game behind as the Braves scored the winning run on Dick Groat's third-inning throwing error and Warren Spahn pitched an eight-hitter for his fifth victory.

The Braves, who have won three straight for Haney since he replaced Charlie Grimm Saturday night after a miserable 5-12 slump got all their runs off Ron Kline. Joe Adcock, moved back into the lineup in Grimm's last managerial move, drove in two runs with a first-inning double. It was Adcock who powered three home runs in Sunday's doubleheader sweep at Brooklyn.

MANTLE'S TWO-ON, eighth-inning blast that broke a 4-all tie, made Adcock's Sunday smash look like a pop fly. The Mick picked a 2-1 pitch by Paul Foytack directly into the wind and off the grandstand roof 110 feet above the ground in right field. The poke went over the 370-foot sign.

Ted Williams, as a Boston rookie in 1939, is the only other man to put one out of Briggs Stadium.

Mantle's homer put him 12 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 paces of 1927 and handed Don Larsen his fourth victory after 6 1/2 innings of three-hit ball in relief of Bob Turley.

Dodgers Rap ULL Yanks, 19-3

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

The Ulster Hose Dodgers scored 12 runs in the sixth inning to cop a 19-3 victory over the Ulster Kiwanis Club Yanks last night in the Town of Ulster Little League.

The Brooks used 10 hits and 13 walks to advantage to score the tallies off three Yank pitchers, loser Ed Koepen, Paul Gorman and Bob Curtis.

Bob Joy, Ralph Hall and Lee Metrich led the winners' assault with two hits each. John Kelly, Joe Goldsbaugh and Dick Hessdorfer stroked doubles.

Hall went all the way to post the victory, the Dodgers' third. He yielded just two hits, walked six and fanned seven.

Mantle Smacked 'Bad Ball' Out Of Briggs Park

Detroit, June 19 (AP)—Detroit catcher Frank House kept telling Mickey Mantle he'd never hit one out of the park with the strong wind blowing in. And the slugger is reminded constantly by manager Casey Stengel and his coaches to quit swinging at bad balls.

If the New York Yankee strong boy had paid any attention at all, he would not have propelled a "bad ball" out of Briggs Stadium yesterday to become the second man in history to accomplish that feat.

Mantle's blast, hit from the left side of the plate, came with two men on base in the eighth inning and broke a 4-4 tie to give the Yankees a 7-4 decision.

He drove the ball high over the 370-foot mark to the roof, which stands 110 feet above the ground. One hop carried the ball into the street.

On a May afternoon back in 1939, a rookie named Ted Williams cracked one over the stands down the line in right. But Mantle's blast was much more impressive, and much longer.

Frank House, Tiger catcher, said in the clubhouse that Mantle hit "a fast ball a little inside and up around his shoulders."

"It wasn't a fit pitch to hit," the drawling Alabamian added.

Yankees cashed in on eight walks in the first two innings to defeat the Dodgers, 7 to 5, in the Town of Hurley Little League opener yesterday at Hurley.

Michael Canning, the Dodger starter, gave up eight walks in the first two stanzas and the Yanks converted them to six runs.

DOUGLAS STRUBER and John Hammond shared the Yankee pitching chores and held the Dodgers to four hits. The winners collected five.

Red Sox collected five hits off Canning, Paul Gruner and Vince Crantz. Hammond and Crantz had six strikeouts apiece.

No player on either side got more than one hit and Crantz's double was the only extra base blow of the game.

(By The Associated Press)

(AB) Bunts provided the runs necessary to turn tight ball games into victories for two Eastern League teams last night.

A squeeze bunt in the eighth by Ed Waytula of the Schenectady Blue Jays made the difference as the Jays downed the visiting Syracuse Chiefs 1-0. And Joe Christopher's 10th inning bunt at Williamsport gave the Grays a 3-2 victory over Reading.

Johnstown fans were unable to see the Johnnies' new manager, Frank (Chick) Genovese of Brooklyn, make his debut last night. A scheduled doubleheader with the league-leading Allentown Redbirds was called off because of rain and wet grounds.

Waytula's bunt at Schenectady drove in Gerry Claycomb, who had tripled. The loss was a tough one for Syracuse's Don Bradey, who had held the Jays to only three hits in the first five innings and fanned nine. It was Brady's fifth loss against two wins. Harry Bolinda was the winner.

The victory moved the Jays up a half-game on idle Allentown. They are now a game and a half off the pace.

GORDY FIGARD scored on Christopher's bunt at Williamsport. The run was unearned since Figard was on base through an error. The Grays had been trailing until the seventh, when they scored a pair of runs to knot the score.

Genovese replaces Andy Gilbert as manager of the last-place Johnnies. Gilbert probably will get a similar assignment.

Schwartz has advised the local directors that player reinforcements also will be supplied the Johnnies, who have won only 16 of their first 49 games and are 14 games out of first.

Charlie Getz, a high powered young man doing promotional work for the New York Giants, was in town a few days ago drumming up interest in a proposed "Hudson Valley Day" at the Polo Grounds.

While Charlie was unloading this spiel in the editorial room, the flash of the 4-for-4 trade with the Cardinals came over the Associated Press teletype.

Mr. Getz's enthusiasm knew no bounds. A moment earlier his pitch was trying to sell a dead horse. Now he had something to sell. Giant fans might disagree on who-stuck-who in the barter but it was either that trade or a fast trip to Minneapolis.

"Are there any Giant fans in Kingston?", Mr. Getz inquired. Informed that his question implied either monumental impertinence or incredible naivete, Mr. Getz was greatly relieved when told that the words around these parts are loaded with Giant fans—frustrated, broken hearted and disappointed, but never unfaithful.

Getz suggested we recommend a committee to handle the promotion on the local end. We named five of the traditional diehards, one of whom probably will be spotted on a TV interview with Russ Hodges. What finer committee or one more dedicated to the cause than—P. Joseph Beichert, Knute Beichert, Irwin J. Thomas, Len Sickler, Robert Tierney and Phil Corrado, unless he has transferred his allegiance to the Hollywood Stars.

FLATS AND JETSAM:

Miss Lauretta Tierney, Miss Saugerties of 1956, will throw out the first ball at the opening of the Babe Ruth League at Cantine Field this evening. She hopes to improve on the control she displayed for the opening game of the Saugerties Dutchmen. . . . Bill Engle has won a varsity track letter at Norwich University. . . . Dale Long of the Pittsburgh Pirates has hit for the cycle, belting at least one home run in all eight National League parks. Duke Snider needs only the Polo Grounds to complete his cycle while Frank Thomas has been blanked only at County Stadium in Milwaukee. Coincidence department: Bert Bishop's 30th games and lost 23rd, to capture the first half of the Woman's Major. Then they tied Adin's Food Center for first place with an identical record in the second half. Thirty years ago, a fighter with 200 bouts to his credit was usual. Today, only two fighters can claim this distinction. Willie Davis and Archie Moore. . . . The smallest check ever received by a main event fighter in Madison Square Garden went to Germany's Walter Neusel for his bout with Ray Impellittere. The imp received a $5,000 guarantee and Neusel $3.19.

OF MICE AND MEN:

Young old timers of the pre-war semi-pro baseball circuit recall Carl "Dutch" Ruge of Rhinebeck as a smooth, lanky submarine pitcher for Fred Dahm's Poughkeepsie All Stars. It now develops his son, Russ, is one of the finest high school flingers ever developed in Dutchess county. Young Ruge won 16 and lost only 4 during his career at Rhinebeck Central. He fanned 157 in 141 1/3 innings, gave only 52 hits, 77 walks and 26 earned runs. He hit a modest 513. . . . A recent big softball attraction at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie attracted 24 paying customers. . . . Charlie Neff has succeeded Virgil E. Tompkins as secretary of the Section 9 Sports Council. Tompkins of Suffern has accepted a post as principal of Bethlehem Central Senior High School at Delmar, N. Y. . . . Poughkeepsie High, formerly isolated from the DUSO and its natural athletic opponents in Section One, has been accepted for membership in Section Nine.

A guy was faulting the women golfers because they can't powder a ball as far as the men. Cracked Beverly Hanson, one of the top gal professionals, "We may not have the length but we do have the contours."

Tonight's Game

Tigers vs. Braves.

The Shults Paint Co. Indians blended three-hit pitching with extra-base power hitting to down the Hildebrandt Dry Dock Co. Pirates, 5-2, and gain their fifth straight National Little League triumph last night at Kingman Park.

Tom Henry and Bill Boice joined forces on the mound while Joe Cavano and Tom Fiore provided the power as the Tribe remained unbeaten and handed the winless Bucs their fifth loss in a row.

HENRY GOT THE win and before giving way to Boice struck out eight and walked six. Boice passed none and fanned three in his short stint.

Cavano slammed a double and triple and Fiore a two-bagger and single. Bill Murphy got the Indians' other safe blow.

Jack Lewis smacked a double and single for the Pirates while Horace Walker got the third hit. Roy Hatcher was the losing pitcher, going all the way and pitching a strong game. He whiffed nine and passed three.

Hilltop Rout Maddens, 12-2

Boyce Fans 11 In League Debut; J. Smith Homers

Frank Boyce returned to the City Softball League with a flourish yesterday, as he pitched Hilltop Rest to a 12-2 victory over Maddens TV.

Wimpy's Grill scored a run in the bottom of the seventh to edge Subway Grill, 5-4, and Chez Emile topped Miron Lumber, 7 to 5.

BOYCE, the chunky right hander and rated by many the best softball pitcher in the city, limited Maddens to six and set a seasonal record with 11 strikeouts.

On offense he contributed a couple of singles to Hilltop's 17-hit assault on Bernstein.

Fred Schryver achieved one of those rare "5 for 5" performances, with two doubles and three singles. Carter slammed three singles.

Klinger of Maddens' rapped a triple. Tom Hines singled Buddy Smith home with the winning run in Wimpy's squeaker over Subways. Jake Smith belted a tremendous homer and Jimmy Woods slugged a double and two singles. Sugar Lowe got the decision over Tom Spada in a battle of 10-hitters.

BEN FREER had one bad inning—the second—when Miron Lumber scored five runs—but he was inviolate in the other frames. Chezzies meanwhile pecked away at Dick Bradley, scoring in five of their seven turns at bat.

Although the two teams combined for 21 hits there was nary an extra base in the flock. Bill Olen of Chez Emile and Bradley hit three singles each.

3:50 Mile Likely Says Bannister

Montreal, June 15 (AP)—Dr. Roger Bannister said today that the 3:50 mile is possible but will come gradually.

The English runner who first broke the four-minute barrier arrived with his wife by plane yesterday.

He said his visit to Canada—the first since he won the mile at the British Empire Games in Vancouver two years ago in 3:56.6—is something of a vacation.

The present 3:58.0 record, held by Australia's John Landy, will be broken, said Bannister, and bits will continue to be chipped off the new marks until eventually there will be a levelling-off place, possibly around 3:50.

Seven Teenagers

Plead Innocent,

Trial Is June 21

Each of the seven teenagers who were arrested Sunday night on disorderly conduct charges after allegedly refusing to move from the Broadway underpass area on order of policemen, pleaded innocent before City
Judge Raymond J. Mino today and trial was scheduled for June profit for the customers; profit for the employees; profit for the stockholders.

When Mr. Watson became president of the organization, it had fewer than 400 employees. Today there are more than 59,000 on the payroll. The company now has nearly 200 offices throughout the United States, and through the IBM World Trade Corporation, a wholly-owned, independently operated subsidiary, does business in 80 other countries. Service and counsel are provided wherever IBM machines are used.

IBM'S FACTORIES in this country are at Endicott, N. Y., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Washington, D. C., San Jose, Calif., Greenville, Indiana, and Kingston, N. Y., and two more will be constructed soon at Owego, N. Y., and Rochester, Minnesota. Factories are operating abroad in Canada, Brazil, England, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Scotland, Sweden and The Netherlands. Assembly plants are located in Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Norway, and Switzerland, and IBM cards are manufactured in thirty-one plants around the world.

At the outset of his leadership, Mr. Watson realized the necessity for education, research, and engineering to insure the growth of the company not only for the purpose of improving the few then-existent models of business machines, but also to develop new machines and new uses for the company's products. As a result, he began early in his association with IBM to stress study on the part of employees and to develop what has become one of the outstanding research and engineering organizations of its kind in the world.

It was in those early days that, without sufficient collateral, Mr. Watson borrowed $40,000 from the Guaranty Trust Company of New York. He considers that his greatest selling job. Of that sum, he used $25,000 to create an engineering laboratory, and $15,000 to train salesmen. Today, IBM spends several million dollars a year on research and engineering.

The IBM stock is considered "blue chip" investment. Describing benefits of stock dividend declarations of the company, at the annual meeting of stockholders on April 24, 1956, Mr. Watson said:

A PURCHASE of 100 shares of IBM stock on January 2, 1951, would have cost about $21,000. This would now amount to 151 shares with a market value of approximately $74,000, which, with cash dividends of approximately $3,000 paid during this period, totals nearly $77,000 compared with the original investment of $21,000.

A purchase of 100 shares in 1914 would have cost less than $3,000. In exercising rights through 1925 the cash investment would have increased to a total of a little over $6,000 for 153 shares. This would now amount to 3,990 shares with a market value of just under $2,000,000, which, with cash dividends of approximately $209,000 paid during this period, totals about $2,164,000, compared with the original investment of just over $6,000.

On June 6, 1956, the company will pay its 165th consecutive cash dividend.

Unlike the majority of industries, the growth of IBM continued during the depression of the 1930's, when Mr. Watson refused to retrench by dismissing employees. Instead, he added hundreds of salesmen. Results were so impressive that they led to the legend that the company is "Depression-proof."

Actually IBM went through the depression making parts that it did not need immediately in order to provide steady employment for its workers. Mr. Watson explained later that this program gave work to employees when they needed it, and it gave the company parts to assemble machines when business improved. This proved advantageous when the company was awarded the contract for electric accounting machines to be used in getting the U. S. Social Security program underway.

IN 1940, before the outbreak of World War II, Mr. Watson offered the entire facilities of the company to the government, and special laboratory work was begun. When IBM entered into its first contract for the production of munitions in April, 1951, a year before the enactment of the Renegotiation Act, the company voluntarily established and confirmed the policy of accepting only moderate profits on war contracts. In conformity with this policy, through price reductions and refunds voluntarily made, IBM limited its over-all profits on war contracts to less than 1.5 per cent net after taxes.

After the United States entered World War II, Mr. Watson requested that his percentage compensation be reduced so that he would derive no earnings from the company's war contract profits. The directors approved this request and also his suggestion that they consider using the earnings he refused for improvement of the retirement plan for employees. This amount established "The Watson Fund for Supplementing the IBM Retirement Plan."

Thirty-eight major munition products were manufactured in IBM plants and many Army, Navy, and Air Force awards and tributes for the excellence of the company's war production were received.

IBM employees neither missed a shipping date on any of the material manufactured for the government nor had anything returned because of poor workmanship, and maintained one of the lowest absentee records in the entire country.

In May, 1947, President Truman awarded Mr. Watson the Medal of Merit, the presentation being made by the late Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

THE ACCOMPANYING citation said, "he made available to the government the exclusive services of his highly-trained technical personnel at great sacrifice to his own interests." It added that "in all of his government contracts, he voluntarily limited the profits to less than 1½ per cent and placed this sum in a fund for the benefit of widows and orphans of his employees who lost their lives in the war."

Mr. Watson dislikes titles like "manager" and "supervisor." Persons holding such positions, he says, should regard themselves as "assistants" to these working under their direction.

Various program initiated by the company for the benefit of IBM personnel have reflected Mr. Watson's insistence that the individual worker is the greatest asset of a business. "The cornerstone of all values," he says, "is the man himself, whatever his job."

IBM country clubs providing sports and other recreational facilities for employees are located at Endicott, N. Y., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sands Point, L. I., and Toronto, Canada. They are managed by boards of governors elected annually by the employees from among themselves. In addition, employee benefits, paid for entirely by the company, include: life insurance up to $25,000, a sickness - accident plan, a family hospitalization plan, major medical benefits plan, disability pay, retirement plan and Watson Fund, benefits for employees in military service, paid holidays, and up to four weeks paid vacation.

Speaking at a stockholders' meeting, Mr. Watson said:

"AS I HAVE TOLD you before, we look upon these benefits to our employees not as an expense, but as an investment in our human assets. It is easy for us to send you statements of our material assets, but those material assets are worthless until the human assets, the men and women in IBM, put them to work. Our business always will succeed in proportion to the extent that the men and women we speak of as the human assets continue to make the material assets function for the benefit of the stockholders."

When Mr. Watson has mentioned employee benefits, he has emphasized the fact that they were not to be construed as incentives to further effort. He has told the employees that they have earned, through their good work, all the benefits which they have received.

A firm believer in equal opportunities for both male and female employees, Mr. Watson has opened new doors for women workers in IBM factories and offices, and established minimum salaries on an "equal pay for equal work" basis. IBM's Quarter Century Club includes many women members. In 1935 a special education program was begun for young women, and today there are a number of women executives in the company.

Income for employees, Mr. Watson holds, should be sufficient so that annual "take home" pay for every IBM worker will be adequate to all his needs. An hourly rate basis of remuneration replaced piecework pay at the end of 1934 in all IBM plants, because Mr. Watson felt that an hourly basis established greater economic stability.

ADVOCATING "the exchange not only of goods and services but of men and methods, ideas and ideals," Mr. Watson's slogan, "World Peace Through World Trade" has become internationally known. Mr. Watson has been active in the work of the International Chamber of Commerce since it was organized, and in 1937 he was elected its president. Upon completion of a two-year term, he was elected honorary president.

In 1940, Mr. Watson received the Captain Robert Dollar Memorial Award bestowed each year for outstanding contributions to the advancement of foreign trade of the United States.

In 1943, the first Western Hemisphere award, administered jointly by the American Commercial Arbitration Commission and the Canadian American Commercial Arbitration Commission, was presented to Mr. Watson for "distinguished service in founding the commercial arbitration system."

In 1947, he was the recipient of the gold medal of the National Institute of Social Sciences for distinguished service to humanity in the field of international relations. Also in 1947 he was awarded the gold insignia of the Pan-American Society of the United States for distinguished service in the cause of Pan-Americanism, and the gold medal of the Cuban Chamber of Commerce in the United States.

In 1950, Mr. Watson received the first international award of the American Arbitration Association for "distinguished service in the advancement of world peace through world trade and arbitration as an American way of life."

BECAUSE OF HIS interest in the international scene, Mr. Watson became host to many foreign dignitaries visiting New York. He has entertained kings, presidents, prime ministers, ambassadors and others, and referring to these guests President Franklin D. Roosevelt once remarked: "I take care of them in Washington. I have learned to rely confidently on Tom Watson to take care of them in New York."

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, late president of Columbia University, once called Mr. Watson as great an educator as he is a businessman and industrial genius. Education is a subject of paramount importance to the IBM chairman, and under his direction, the company has established educational programs that cover both required courses for vocational preparation and voluntary courses meeting general interests. In addition, instructional literature is prepared for extension courses offered to employees throughout the organization, and customers' representatives are trained in the application of IBM machines.

During the depression period a separate building, the IBM School, was built at Endicott, to serve as the center of the company's educational activities. Since then, twenty district education centers have been established throughout the country for some of the training activities, and classes are held in other IBM plants. In addition, the Endicott school will double its present size when construction now under way is completed.

In evidence throughout the IBM organization Mr. Watson's slogan THINK appears on wall and desk signs, and small memo books. "The expression, 'I didn't think,'" he once explained, "has cost the world millions of dollars." The IBM monthly magazine, THINK, which first appeared in 1935, is devoted largely to cultural subjects.

MR. WATSON has been presented with honorary degrees by 27 universities and colleges in the United States and four universities abroad. For many years, he has served as a trustee of Columbia University and Lafayette College.

In 1944, Mr. Watson was presented with the New York Academy of Public Education Medal for distinguished service to public education, both national and international. He was also the recipient of the New York State Vocational and Practical Arts Association Medal for his contributions to vocational education, and the "Silver Buffalo" for Distinguished Service to Boyhood from the Boy Scouts of America.

In 1947, more than 1,200 laymen of the United States and Canada selected Mr. Watson to receive the National Russell College distinguished service citation for his outstanding contributions to the advancement of Christian education through personal leadership and influence.

In 1953 Mr. Watson was among those who received Horatio Alger awards conferred by the American Schools and College Association on men who have risen from humble origin to high success.

Mr. Watson's cultural associations are equally far-flung. Deeply interested in art since his youth, he has arranged numerous exhibitions not only for his employees, but for the general public as well. It has long been his belief that cooperation between art and business can benefit both of them and IBM has acquired a major collection of art works. When he was a young man of 24 he bought a painting that cost him $40, the equivalent of three weeks salary, because, when he admired the picture but said he could not afford to buy it, the artist told him that he could not afford not to buy something he liked. That was the beginning of his collection; now he is regarded as a leading collector.

In 1946, at the request of the State Department and selected by their representative, a collection of paintings, entitled "Sixty Americans Since 1800," was sent by courtesy of Mr. Watson to Cairo, Egypt, and from there to other countries to help interpret America and Americans to other parts of the world. Among honors which have been paid to the IBM chief executive for his work in the field of art was the presentation in 1941 of the first medal to be awarded by the Kansas City Art Institute for his outstanding aid to American art.

His broad interest in civic improvement and social thinking earned for Mr. Watson in 1950 the Chauncey M. Three New Jurors Chosen Today in Newburgh Trial Newburgh, N. Y., June 19 (F) — Three new jurors were chosen today, bringing to 10 the number selected for the Al Frias murder trial.

In contrast to previous lengthy questioning of prospective jurors, Martin Rosenblum, defense attorney for Joseph Marsala, 26, one of the two defendants, asked each possible juror only one question.

Marsala and George Ruocco, also 26, and both of New York city, are accused of shooting Frias, 25, a former Fall River, Mass., boxer, and robbing him of $6,000. Frias' body was found beside a highway near Southfield, N. Y., April 2, 1955. Marsala and Ruocco were arrested last August.

A new panel of 100 prospective jurors has been selected and will report tomorrow in the county court house here if the jury is not completed today.

Fisherman Hooks Wallet

Ovid, N. Y., June 19 (F) — Norman Getman of Ovid is about $104 richer today because Alton Worden of Trumansburg, to the south, likes to fish. Worden told reporters yesterday he was trolling in Cayuga Lake over the weekend when he felt a nibble. Reeling in his line, he found a wallet snagged to his hook. In it were $104 and papers belonging to Getman. The delighted Getman said he lost the wallet last July 4 when he was swimming in the lake with it tucked into his bathing suit.

Harriman Visits Office

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (F) — Gov. Harriman was at his capitol desk today for the first time since May 2. While he was gone he made his first clear-cut statement that he was a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. He also has undergone a prostate gland operation, made several speeches and launched an organization of supporters from 12 western states who say they hope to rally their states' convention delegates to Harriman.

Algerians Executed

Algiers, Algeria, June 19 (F) — The French today chopped off the heads of two Algerians convicted as terrorists. One of the men sent to the guillotine was a member of the French army who was found guilty of joining the rebels for a night raid.

Delaware DA Is Not Closing Case

Delhi, N. Y., June 19 (F) — The Delaware county district attorney says that he is not closing a "lonely hearts" case in which a man charged with first-degree murder was indicted only for a health-law violation.

Alex Hannus, 70, a retired sea captain, had been charged with the slaying last October of Mrs. Anna Duhamel, 60, at her farm home at handsome hollow.

A grand jury indicted him only on a charge of burying the woman's body without a permit. The maximum penalty is a $50 fine. The indictment was returned, sealed, on May 10, and opened yesterday.

District Attorney Gleason B. Speenburgh, who had asked for the first-degree murder indictment, said:

"This office merely comments that the matter of the death of Anna Duhamel is not closed by this indictment."

He declined to comment further and would not discuss the status of the murder charge against Hannus in the light of the indictment.

Abraham S. Robinson of New York city, counsel for Hannus, also had no immediate comment on the legal status of the murder charge.

Hannus was returned to Delaware county jail to await trial in the Fall on the indictment.
